

N. R. A. Service Codes Comprise Bear Which Johnson Holds by Tail

WASHINGTON — General Hugh Johnson is looking for a handy tree.

He has caught a large and ferocious bear by the tail, and like the proverbial huntsman, hasn't leave go, hasn't hold on.

The service codes—barbers, beauty shops, hotels, taxis, etc.—he has decided to abandon as impossible to enforce.

The plan, however, is proving easier said than done.

The transient industry—street cars and buses—have bluntly told him that they will not stand for junking of the taxi code. And to prove they mean business they have backed up their warning with two specific threats:

1. If the taxi code is discarded, the Transit Code Authority proposes to resign at once in a body.

2. Following that step, the industry will air in the press certain items of NRA "dirty linen," which it has reason to believe the General is not anxious to have exposed.

These items consist of the fact that hanging fire within the NRA are a number of non-compliance charges against transit companies. No action has been taken on them for six months.

Why there has been no "cracking down" is a mystery. The complaints have been shuffled from one division to another, each apparently passing the buck.

Hold Everything

Young Henry Morgenthau was surprised one morning to read a columnist's report that he was about to be sent abroad as Ambassador to France to make room for "Barney" Baruch as Secretary of the Treasury.

It was news to him. And so, apparently, it was to President Roosevelt.

At any rate, about noon of the same day, the Treasury chief got a little note on White House stationery, which read:

"As Al Smith cabled the Pope November 8, 1928, 'unpack'."

No Surprise

To insiders, there was nothing surprising in the sudden action of Oklahoma's inflationary Senator Elmer Thomas in offering an amendment to scuttle the President's "Truth in Securities" Act.

Progressive inflationists were amazed over this display of Toryism. But they didn't know their man.

There isn't a trace of real liberalism in Thomas's economic thinking. His inflation bellowing is unadulterated politics.

Oklahoma has always been a hot-bed of monetary populism. More money cranks emerge from its boundaries than old kings. Clamor for monetary experimentation pays good political dividends, and Elmer has his eyes on the main chance.

The tip-off on Thomas is to be found in two minor side-lights.

1. He was a DePauw University classmate of Dr. "Eat-and-Tell" Wirt. When the latter uncorked his fantastic tale of a Brain Trust Red-revolution, Thomas went wringing his hands in grave alarm.

2. In his every day attire, the Oklahoma man is one of the best-dressed men in Congress. His tall, erect, white topped figure is draped by expensive tailors in the most patrician manner. But the photograph which usually appears in newspapers and magazines pictures the Senator from Oklahoma in tattered overalls. He put them on after one of his inflation harangues and then called in the news photographers.

Tough Nut

It is a lucky thing for goateed John H. Fahey, head of the Home Owners Loan Corporation, that his appointment is not up for confirmation at this session of Congress.

He would most certainly never get by the throat-cutting gang of Democratic patronage-grabbers now ruling the Senate. They would nail his hide on a fence.

Fahey, a quiet-spoken but decisive New England publisher, former President of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, is known on Capitol Hill as the toughest New Dealer. (Continued on Page Seven)

MRS. MORRIS REMAINS OUT OF COUNTY RACE

Local Woman Not to Seek Another Term, She An- nounces Friday

MANY TO SEEK JOB Completes Fourth Term December 31

The door was thrown open today for a real contest for county recorder this fall when Mrs. Mary G. Morris, incumbent, announced she will not be a candidate to succeed herself. It had been previously reported that Mrs. Morris would run for re-election if the Ohio Supreme court ruled that a two-year extender for recorders in office was unconstitutional. The supreme court ruled against the extender.

With the deadline for filing primary petitions just four weeks from today, June 15, it is expected the office of the Board of Elections will be kept busy with candidates seeking nomination petitions. It is known that a number of persons were withdrawing announcements until Mrs. Morris, always a strong political campaigner, decided whether or not she would run. With her decision finally made it is expected they will waste no time on planning their campaigns.

TWO REPUBLICANS IN

Two Republican candidates are already in the field; Misses Hulda Redd and Hilda Burns, both of this city. They have their petitions out but have not yet filed them making themselves confirmed candidates. It is also possible that others will seek the Republican nomination.

Mrs. Morris, with her deputy, Miss Mary Armstrong, have efficiently conducted the recorder's office during their regime. Mrs. Morris will complete her fourth year, term Dec. 31.

67 PER CENT OF PICKAWAY VOTED ON STATE ISSUES

Sixty-seven per cent of the eligible electors of Pickaway-county cast ballots on four major state issues at the last election, figures announced by Secretary of State George S. Myers, Friday, disclosed. The figure is just about the average percentage as far as the state is concerned.

Pickaway's percentage of 86 per cent was high and Lawrence-county's 53.75 per cent was low. In counties surrounding Pickaway the following percentages prevailed: Ross, 66.5; Hocking, 64.75; Madison, 69.75; Franklin, 82.25; Fairfield, 77.5; Fayette, 71.25.

Pickaway's vote on the four state issues varied. The largest number cast ballots on the issue of repealing the old age pension law, 77 per cent. The percentage in the county was 77. Next was repeal of Article 9 of the state constitution dealing with prohibition, 70 per cent, then came reduction of the tax limitation on real estate, 61 per cent, then county home rule, 60 per cent.

In 11 counties including Hocking and Ross more than one-third of the voters failed to express a preference on state issues. Twenty counties reported fewer than one-fifth of those voting failed to either vote for or against state issues. Franklin was the only county in this district doing so.

Union-county is the only one in which the vote was larger on the Ten Mill Tax Levy than on the Repeal question.

HORSE SHATTERS ED. DOWDEN'S LEG

Ed Dowden, of Wayne-town, was taken to Berger hospital, Thursday afternoon, after suffering a fractured left leg at the knee when kicked by a horse.

He was taken to the institution in the Rinehart invalid car and is a patient of Dr. H. D. Jackson.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Crosby Rogers, of Newark, are announcing the birth of a son, Tuesday, May 15. Mrs. Rogers was Mary Elizabeth Steele before her marriage, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Steele, former residents of this city.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Beck, 136 E. Mill-st., Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard North, 133 York-st., announce the birth of a daughter, Friday.

AMERICAN GIRLS TO ENTER FRANCE

MADRID, May 18.—The twelve American girls from Smith and Barnard college, whose passport difficulties have raised a furore, will be admitted to France without further ado.

The French consul here stated today that he will grant visas to the girls who have ended their stay in Spain and were hoping to leave yesterday for Paris but were detained until "evidence of their good character" was forthcoming from home.

WOMAN HURT AS CARS HIT

Wreck at Bell's Siding Caused When Auto Turns In Road; Back Injured.

Mrs. Carrie Sisson, of Porter, near Gallipolis, is in University hospital, Columbus, suffering from back injuries after figuring in an automobile accident at Bell's siding at 4 p. m. Thursday.

She was riding in the Chevrolet automobile of her son, Stephen B. Sisson.

The Sisson car and the Ford driven by W. H. Stebbelton, of Scioto Trail, crashed when Stebbelton started to turn around at the siding. Neither car was badly damaged and Mrs. Sisson's injury was the only one of any consequence.

Stebbelton was accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Bessie Courtwright.

Sisson was traveling south, according to Deputy Miller Fessell, who investigated. Mrs. Sisson was taken to the hospital in the Rinehart ambulance.

Several years ago Stebbelton and Mrs. Courtwright were injured when their automobile, being turned in the road, was struck by the machine of one of the Brewer brothers of Chillicothe.

WOMAN'S BODY FOUND IN WELL

Mrs. Ben Stewart, 42, Last Seen Saturday; Probe Theory of Murder.

GALLIPOLIS, May 18.—Investigation was launched here today into the strange circumstances surrounding the death of Mrs. Ben Stewart, 42, whose body was found in a well yesterday near the Gallipolis airport.

The body was found by a woman who had gone to the well to get a bucket of water.

Mrs. Stewart, investigation disclosed, was last seen Saturday night. At that time she was in the company of friends in an automobile. All had been drinking, it was said.

Coroner Lewis Brown, who was conducting the probe into the woman's death, indicated he was investigating the possibility that Mrs. Stewart might have been slain and her body disposed of in the well.

ST. PHILIP'S HOLDS MEMORIAL SERVICE

City-wide memorial services, Sunday morning, May 27, will be conducted at St. Philip's Episcopal church with Rev. L. C. Sherburne in charge.

All patriotic organizations including G. A. R., American Legion, and its auxiliary, Daughters of the American Revolution and Daughters of Union Veterans will take part.

Four Closed Banks Would Pay Dividend

WASHINGTON C. H., May 18.—Four Dayton-area closed banks have applied to common pleas court for permission to pay 5 per cent dividends.

If the applications are approved about $115,000 will be released. The banks include the Ohio State and Peoples' & Drivers', both of this city, and the Farmers and the Citizens, both of Jeffersonville.

Jeffries Takes Job In State Insurance

Lawrence J. Jeffries, son of Mrs. T. F. Jeffries, S. Scioto-st., has taken a position in the insurance division of the state, it was announced here today.

COUNTIANS WARNED OF PENSION 'GYP'

Residents of the western part of Pickaway-county were warned, Friday, that a man and woman representing themselves as agents for the Old Age Pension Commission are known to have extorted $5 from a Mt. Sterling resident on promise of signing him up for three to five years to receive $30 monthly.

There is no one soliciting for the pension commission. Sheriff Charles Radcliff should be notified if any such person appears.

S. O. ELECTRIC TO SPEND SUM IN ROSS CITY

$40,000 Expense For New In- stallation at Sub-station Is Announced.

CHILLICOTHE, May 18.—Plans now nearing completion by The Southern Ohio Electric Company will provide Chillicothe with a light and power service unsurpassed by any city anywhere.

The plans contemplate doubling the capacity of the present sub-station at the foot of Chestnut-st., thus making available a supply of energy ample to serve a city several times the size of Chillicothe.

The chief reason for the improvement, however, is to assure continuous service under all conditions and to guard against interruptions which embarrass the company quite as much as they inconvenience its patrons.

The present equipment of the Chillicothe substation includes three 1,000 K. V. A. transformers. This will be increased by the addition of two 1,500 K. V. A. transformers. These new transformers, with oil circuit breakers, automatic switches, etc., will be installed in a separate steel structure and will be an additional substation, constituting a duplication of present facilities.

CONTINUOUS SERVICE

In the event of the failure of one substation, such as was caused by the blowing out of a polehead on February 19 last, the other substation will go into immediate service. Thus the company will be equipped with the equivalent of a spare tire on an automobile or, rather, with four spare tires. But service will be restored in event of an interruption more quickly than an autoist can change a tire.

All materials and equipment for the additional substation have been ordered and construction will start in the near future. It will take two months to complete the work at a cost of $40,000.

The present sources of electric supply for Chillicothe can not be improved. The city secures energy from two separate transmission lines.

TUCSON HEARS "LYNCH" CRIES

Threats Heard on Streets As Officers Are Believed Clos- ing Net.

TUCSON, Ariz., May 18.—Checking fingerprints on June Robies' "torture coffin," combing the desert for clues, and questioning all persons who may have knowledge that would point to the girl's kidnapers, the law moved grimly forward today in its search for the men that held little June prisoner for 19 days.

TUCSON, Ariz., May 18.—The spirit of old Judge Lynch rode the Arizona range today on the trail of the kidnapers of little June Robies.

Threats to lynch the abductors of the 6-year-old school girl continued to be voiced today and officers proceeded cautiously in their investigations.

One suspect was in custody, several under surveillance.

Cowboys and grizzled pioneers of this southwestern desert country seconded as a "good idea" June's childish desire that "if you catch those bad men I want you to put chains on their legs like they did on me in that old box."

"HANGING TOO GOOD"

"Hanging would be too good for them," was a sentiment frequently expressed on Tucson streets.

"We are no nearer a solution to the identity of the kidnapers than we were when June was abducted from a street here April 25," Sheriff John Belton said.

Meanwhile 18 distinct fingerprints were found on sticky dusty bottles of jam and grapefruit which were taken from the "horror coffin" from which June was rescued 19 days after she was "snatched" from a Tucson street while en route home from school.

Authorities obtained from a grocer whose identity was not disclosed, a detailed description of a "silly man" who bought the cartons of fruit and other foodstuffs. (Continued on Page Six)

STATE GRANTS SUM FOR CITY SCHOOL WORK

Relief Commission An- nounces $6,247, to Be Used for Materials

ELATES SCHOOL MEN

FERA Labor to Resume Work in Short Time

Local relief and school officials were notified, Friday, that the state relief commission has approved expenditures of $6,247 of federal money for the addition to the Walnut-st school building upon which work was suspended when the Civil Works administration went out of existence March 31.

School board members were jubilant to learn of the grant which will, when received, greatly alleviate matters concerning construction of the addition to the Walnut school.

E. W. Weiler, relief director, said Friday that he believed the money would be applied to materials purchased for the work but not paid for.

WORK UNDER F. E. R. A.

The school project has been added to the Federal Relief administration and as soon as other projects now underway are completed men will be assigned to the job. About 25 per cent of the work on the building has been completed.

Robert G. Colville, school board member, disclosed today.

Work has been just about finished on the north end sewer. A crew has been assigned to the airport site north of the city and is now at work cleaning up the property in preparation for actual construction work. Money for materials for this job is provided by the state division of aviation from a federal grant for Ohio.

Mr. Weiler said that 152 persons are now on the work division lists under the FERA.

OTHER GRANTS

Other grants announced by the state relief commission today were:

DROUGHT FEAR TIGHTENS GRIP

Temperature Climbs To 100- Degree Mark in Middle- western States.

CHICAGO, May 18.—Drought tightened its grip on the parched grain belt today, aggravated by temperatures that ranged between the 80 and 100 degree levels.

The heat and drought will continue for another 24 hours at least, broken only by local showers. Forecaster C. A. Donnel announced here. Rain may bring some relief to the arid northwest states, Minnesota, North Dakota and Wisconsin, according to Donnel. Illinois and Michigan, too, were promised cooling rains.

Extreme heat and dry southwest winds heightened the damage already done to grain crops, pasture and truck crops yesterday, throughout the middle west.

CLIMBS TO 104

At Huron, S. D., the mercury reached 104 to set an early season record.

An acute lack of feed in the dairying sections of Wisconsin and Illinois caused directors of the Pure Milk association here to request of the AAA an increase in the price of fluid milk from $1.75 to $2.25 per hundred pounds.

Cows were reported dying in Wisconsin pastures for want of feed and water. Scores of dairy farmers are selling their stock. Hay reported from the south is costing Wisconsin farmers $20 a ton.

Lake Michigan has fallen to within one foot of its all-time low level, while streams in the Chicago area are fast running dry. Log barges on the upper Mississippi and Missouri rivers were finding it difficult to navigate the shallow waters.

Realization that the drought has progressed so far that crops in the middle west and plains states cannot retrieve their losses even with copious rains caused grain prices to soar on the Board of Trade here again. Reports of serious dust storms in Manitoba and Saskatchewan provinces likewise proved a factor in the price rise.

JULY WHEAT UP

July wheat has gained 14 cents a bushel in the past three weeks, closing yesterday at 89 3/4 cents. May wheat closed at 91 3/4 cents, for a three weeks rise of 16 cents. Corn that was quoted at 43 1/2 three weeks back went to 48 cents yesterday.

OUT OF TOWN

Effort To Alter Federal System Told By Speaker

Using as his subject "The News Behind the Headlines," Charles Milton Newcomb, of Delaware, warned Rotarians, Thursday, of the progress of organized efforts to destroy the democratic form of government of the United States.

He related the history of the origin of communism and socialism and told of the efforts of these organizations to cause trouble in this country. "Communism is destructive," he asserted, "and with force and violence they seek to abolish private property. The followers of communism believe in extreme acts to stir up trouble and have become highly organized in this country."

ORGANIZATIONS DIFFER

Comparing communism with socialism he said, "they differ since socialism does not desire to destroy by violence but by a concerted effort in scheming, and through changes in legislation they seek to make inroads on the present political structure. With a well organized minority they plan to gain their objective."

Mr. Newcomb discussed the recent controversy over the Brain Trust being a tool for organization to break down the democratic form of government, and explained their operations.

He also gave the inside story of the news behind the headlines coming from Washington and explained the reasons for the origin of some of the present legislation. The speaker touched upon objections to the recognition of Russia.

MANY WRITTEN FACTS

During his talk he gave written facts to allegedly prove his assertions and closed his talk by saying "the time is coming when we must clean house and be alert to the existing conditions and should organize to combat them."

Mr. Newcomb spoke as a representative of the National Committee of Patriotic Education.

J. R. Noecker, of the Circleville Savings bank, attended the meeting as a new member.

Plays With Doug

Riddance of the "eye-sore" spots was assured today with the authorization by the Ohio Board of Housing of the creation of a municipal housing authority.

The housing authority, with a membership of five citizens, will have the power to condemn property, issue notes and debentures or any other evidence of indebtedness.

DAILEY RESIGNS 'VEHICLE' POST

COLUMBUS, May 18.—Glen M. Dailey today had resigned as registrar of the Ohio Bureau of Motor Vehicles, effective June 15, to accept a position as general manager of the Ohio Automotive Association with which he formerly was connected.

Announcement of the resignation was made by State Highway Director O. W. Merrill, who said that Dailey would be succeeded by Frank E. West of Columbus.

HOMEWOOD FREED

WALKILL, N. Y., May 18.—Sidney H. Homewood, the young man who sprang into international fame when he decided on jail rather than marriage, went home today, having served one year, five months and 14 days of his sentence for seducing socially prominent Charlotte Gibson under promise of marriage.

He was home $15.00 to the good—rice sum he earned while in prison here. His original fine of $500 was halved when Homewood pleaded poverty and a ruined business because of the publicity at his trial. He is a riding master.

DILLINGER NAMED IN BANK JOB

Flint, Mich. Druggist Says Bandit Held Gun to His Forehead

OVER $25,000 TAKEN

Three Men, Woman Raid Institution This Morning

FLINT, Mich., May 18.—John Dillinger was tentatively identified today as the leader of a gang of three men and one woman who raided the Citizens Commercial and Savings bank and escaped with loot estimated at $25,000 to $30,000.

The identification was made by Kirk Roland, a druggist whose pharmacy is close to the scene of the holdup, near the Chevrolet plant.

"It was Dillinger," Roland said. "I know the scar on his face." He was shown a police photo of the nation's premier desperado, and promptly verified his previous identification.

AFTER HUGE SUM

Roland had gone into the bank on business, he told police, and had taken a pistol toward him, since he expected to bring back a considerable sum of money.

When the thugs entered he attempted to draw his gun.

"Dillinger put his machine gun against my forehead and put his foot on top of mine," Roland said. "He told me: 'If I feel a muscle move in your foot I'll let you have it.'"

"All through the holdup we stood like that—me with my hand reaching back toward my gun pocket, and Dillinger with the machine gun pressed against my forehead, and his foot clamped down on mine."

"I never moved."

LOOKED IN FACE

"I'm positive it was Dillinger. I looked into his face all the time the other guy was climbing into the cage and getting the money."

Bank officials could not be positive of the identification, but all said the leader of the gang of thugs generally fitted Dillinger's description as to weight, height and general appearance.

CAMDEN, N. J., May 18.—In a bold daylight foray three armed bandits escaped with a $875 payroll taken from two employees of a manufacturing company here today.

After trailing the employees several blocks the bandits leaped from their automobile to the sidewalk. Two held one of the employees at bay with revolvers while the other chased the second man up a flight of stairs and snatched the money satchel.

COLUMBUS' DINGY DISTRICTS TO END

COLUMBUS, May 18.—Dingy, squalid sections of Columbus, which have long been "eye-sore" to the city, are to be scrapped off the landscape and replaced with parks and playgrounds and model dwellings.

Riddance of the "eye-sore" spots was assured today with the authorization by the Ohio Board of Housing of the creation of a municipal housing authority.

The housing authority, with a membership of five citizens, will have the power to condemn property, issue notes and debentures or any other evidence of indebtedness.

House in Which Bremer Was Hidden is Located

CHICAGO, May 18.—Discovery of the house where Edward G. Bremer, wealthy St. Paul banker, was held by kidnapers today found the trail of desperado John Dillinger and the federal search for Bremer's abductors strangely entwined once again.

Federal sleuths located the house, just outside Cuba City, Wis., where Bremer was held for three weeks until $200,000 ransom was paid for his release.

Just a stone's throw from the kidnapers' lair the investigators found an abandoned mine where Dillinger and his outlaw followers hid after his break from a federal trap at Spider Lake, near Mercer, Wis.

Alvin Karpis and Arthur "Doc" Barker, hunted as the actual abductors of Bremer, have been identified as members of the Dillinger party that shot its way out of the Wisconsin north woods trap on April 22.

Investigators were of the opinion that Dillinger and his companions fled to the mine after the north woods shooting and remained there while an army of police and federal agents were scouring the middle west for them.

Near the house stands an old stone mill which fits the description of the place given to authorities by Bremer after his release. Both the mill and the mine showed signs of having been used as headquarters by the kidnapers, federal investigators said.

Twelve miles to the south is Galena, Ill., where a score or more of department of justice agents, armed for a pitched battle, have been hunting for Tommy Carroll, a lieutenant of Dillinger. Residents there have identified photographs of Carroll as the man who lived there openly for a week.

Dillinger's flight following the Spider Lake gun battle has been traced across northern Wisconsin to St. Paul, Minn., and thence to Dubuque, Ia., which is 22 miles southeast of Cuba City, and thence to Chicago.

SEARCH AREA

On the theory that some of the gang might still be lurking in the territory between Galena and Cuba City, a careful search of the area was ordered.

HEAVYWEIGHTS WIN LUTHERAN CONTEST

Judges Decide In Favor of Program; Winners To Be Banqueted June 7.

The heavyweight group of the Trinity Lutheran Brotherhood was the winner of the "Contest of Weights" series of programs and will be guests of honor at the next regular meeting to be held June 7th. The other group receiving recognition was the lightweight group who put on the program at the next meeting while the middleweights and bantamweights will prepare the banquet for this meeting.

The decision of the three judges, F. R. Niccass, Ross Kirkpatrick, and Ralph Leach, was given after the fourth of the series of programs was given Thursday night by the bantamweight class.

With a splendid program of the heavyweights preceding them at the April meeting, the bantamweights attempted to come through Thursday but to no avail.

Moving plans for a program was the idea used by the bantamweight group in presenting their program and this was carried throughout in an interesting way.

Opening with announcements that the program would be different, entertaining, snappy and educational the group started to plan their program acting out the ideas offered, which afforded the participants an opportunity to detract from parts of the preceding programs.

In an attempt to gain favor from the judges they depicted an honest insurance agent, automobile dealer and shoe dealer and had Diogenes appear several times in the audience before the honest men were found, namely the judges.

Many humorous skits were presented throughout the program which ended when the group brought forth the coffin, which contained the remains of the three former programs, changing the inscription on the lid to read "We Win."

Mrs. George O. Thurn Answers Requests From Cooking School

Dear Friends in Circleville:

As you know, there isn't room each week to answer all of the questions which poured into me at the Cooking School; but from time to time, those questions which were asked most often, which seemed to bother the greatest number of housekeepers, do find their way into my columns.

For instance, that old, popular request: "Please tell us how to make Chop Suey." That one comes up every day, and from young housekeepers as well as the more experienced. I am giving you a recipe here which according to tourist cook books from China, is Chop Suey. The Chop Suey we know in this country is not known in China; it is a dish for tourists, and for American-Chinese restaurants. But good just the same.

Chop Suey

One and one half pounds pork, chicken, beef or lamb; one large onion; one stalk celery; twelve good sized mushrooms; two cups bamboo shoots (any large grocer has these canned); one and one half teaspoons sugar; two and one half tablespoons soy (ask at any large grocer or if there is a Chinese or Japanese grocer in your town, it can be had there); one tablespoon tarragon vinegar; one cup fine olive or sesame oil.

Cut meat into strips, very thin ones with the scissors; put one half cup of oil in a pan, heat and add the meat. Stir for a minute, then add the vinegar, soy, and sugar and cook five minutes. Chop the other ingredients, and place in another pan which contains half a cup of hot oil. Cook until thoroughly heated, and then add the meat. Cook until it boils hard. Combine mixtures, pile on Chinese dishes, and serve.

Chinese Rice

Chop Suey should be served with rice, and to cook rice the Chinese way is to wash it clean, add water, enough to cover one inch above the rice. Let it come to boiling, then turn the heat low, and let the rice simmer until it is cooked dry. Do not remove the lid during the cooking, until end, to see if it is dry. When the water is absorbed, each grain of rice stands apart from the others.

Chow Mein

While I'm at it I might as well give you the Chow Mein recipe too, for many housekeepers, especially those who serve mid-night suppers, like to give an Oriental party once in a while.

This recipe calls for one pound noodles (raw); one fourth pound mushrooms; one fourth pound bamboo shoots; one fourth pound water chestnuts; one eighth cup thinly sliced cooked chicken; one eighth cup thinly sliced cooked ham; two fried eggs; one half cup roasted chestnuts. The shoots and chestnuts are obtainable canned at most large grocery stores.

Drop the raw noodles into a pot of boiling water; add a little salt and boil rapidly for five minutes. Drain and let cold water from the faucet run over this. Dry in a warm oven until thoroughly dry. Drop into deep hot fat as you would doughnuts. Take out quickly and drain on thick layers of paper toweling.

Sauté the mushrooms in a little melted butter; cook the bamboo shoots at the same time, and the water chestnuts. Until all are tender. Season with salt, pepper, soy beans sauce and a little ground ginger. Remove these from the pan and re-heat the noodles in the same pan, using the fat in which the vegetables were cooked.

On a hot platter make a layer of the noodles, a layer of the vegetables, and a layer of the chicken and ham. Beat the two eggs and fry in the same frying pan in the left over butter. Slice the hard cooked eggs fine, and spread on the chicken and ham. Sprinkle with chopped almonds, and a little parsley.

So many injuries come in for a good goulash, that I am giving another recipe for it here:

Three tablespoons shortening; two onions; one half cup beef stock or bouillon; three tablespoons chili sauce; two tablespoons tomato catsup; one half teaspoon Worcestershire sauce; one fourth teaspoon paprika; one and one half cups cooked beef; salt and pepper to taste.

Melt the shortening in a frying pan, slice the onions very thin into it and fry until brown. Pour into a double boiler, add the stock, chili sauce, catsup and Worcestershire sauce and seasoning. Simmer for ten minutes, then add the beef cut into cubes. Simmer for five minutes longer. Serve.

ATLANTA

Dr. and Mrs. J. T. French and daughter, Martha, were guests over the week-end with relatives in Dayton.

Mrs. Vera Dennis and son, Jimmie spent the past week at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Hunter.

Delmo and Dudley Steele and Jake Folrod were returning to their home from Atlanta Sunday school Sunday morning, riding in a Dodge automobile with Delmo at the wheel, when making the curve on 277 before crossing U. S. 22 he lost control of the car when it left the road and upset. The Folrod lad was painfully cut on the face and right arm by flying glass, the Steele boys escaped injury. The Dodge was taken to the Henry garage for repairs.

Make Jelly Knots For Today's Tea Party

SOMETHING different for tea! Or for the children's between-meals snacks—there are every day cookery problems of the average household. Why not make these appetizing fried knots, so flavorful and so capable of variation, depending on the kind of jelly used in them.

The recipe calls for deep fat to fry them in, also these ingredients: four tablespoons of shortening; two cups sifted flour; two teaspoons baking powder; one half teaspoon salt; two thirds cup milk; sugar and cinnamon for sprinkling; jelly for filling.

Sift the flour once, measure, add the baking powder and salt and sift again. Blend in the shortening with two spatulas or a pastry blender; add milk all at once and stir carefully until all the flour is dampened. Then stir vigorously until the mixture forms a soft dough and follows the spoon around the bowl.

Turn out immediately on slightly floured board and knead not more than thirty seconds. Roll out to one fourth inch thickness and cut in strips six inches long and one half inch wide. Tie in loose knots. Fry in deep, hot fat (375 by your frying thermometer) turning frequently until golden brown.

Drain on thick layers of paper toweling. Place in each knot a teaspoon of jelly, sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon. Makes about twenty knots.

If different colored jellies are used, the plate of finished knots is doubly interesting. Some housekeepers sprinkle the jelly with finely grated coconut.

The recipe for this delicious fried pastry is given elsewhere on the page. Effective with any flavor jelly.

SHE ATE ALL-BRAN TWELVE YEARS WITH FINE RESULTS

Delicious Cereal Relieves Constipation

Read this very enthusiastic letter:

"Something like eleven or twelve years ago, I began eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. When I started, it was called simply Kellogg's Bran, and I believe it was one of the first products of the kind on the market.

"My friends often laugh at my fondness for ALL-BRAN. It gives such a clean taste in the mouth, and I do not feel satisfied until I have had my ALL-BRAN.

"If the Kellogg Company should ever stop manufacturing ALL-BRAN, here is one who would be greatly disappointed."—Miss Amy Person, University Park, Iowa.

Science says that ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further aid regularity. Also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. How much safer than taking patent medicines—often harmful. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily for most types of constipation. For serious cases, try it three times daily. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Sold in the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Cost of Crime

If the people could be aroused to a full realization of the cost in money that crime in the nation annually exacts, there can be little doubt that more effective means than now prevail for dealing with it would be found.

According to Earl W. Evans, president of the American Bar association, the cost is more than $12,000,000,000.

"Crime not only threatens the prosperity and happiness of our people," he said, "but the very life of the nation itself. It exacts an appalling toll—some $12,000,000,000 in money and more, vastly more than can be measured in money, in misery, death and weakened morale."

If the government were proposing to levy $12,000,000,000 in new taxes upon the public to finance some understanding regarded generally as unessential, a great howl would arise from one end of the country to the other. Yet, we hear comparatively little public outcry against crime.

One of the results of this situation is the perpetuation of conditions conducive to crime. Officials become negligent in their duties and politicians continue to put in office men who will form a link between themselves and the underworld.

Additional legislation of some kind may be needed, but more alertness on the part of the public in driving crooks from office and demanding vigorous and impartial enforcement of existing laws would go a great way in improving conditions and cutting down the present cost of crime.

The chief trouble with the prison situation today is the disproportionate difficulty of getting a man in, to the ease with which he gets out.

Jobs for Graduates

There will be pleasing news to the army of young college graduates soon to march out into the world that the prospects of their obtaining jobs are much better this year than last.

The chances of their finding employment are the best in three years, according to a survey made by Wayne W. Parrish for the Literary Digest. The survey was made through questionnaires sent to nine editors of key college daily newspapers and three university employment bureaus. Seven of the nine editors responded with generally favorable reports. Only two reported the outlook as discouraging.

An increasing number of business firms were reported to be looking for college graduates to fill positions in their organizations. Specialists in various lines were said to be in demand by industry.

With these prospects before them, young men and women will approach graduation exercises in a more hopeful frame of mind than has been the case for the last two or three years.

How to plow under some of our gangsters is a problem to which the Brain Trust might turn its attention.

When that day arrives when all women will be beautiful, what will those do who find their greatest satisfaction in making envious their sisters less favored with good looks?

That Texas woman who single-handed captured two kidnappers and freed their victim ought to be impressed into the hunt for Dillinger.

In other words, America won't admit banqueting-made goods to compete with honest labor unless the convicts are Americans.

SYNOPSIS

Stanley Paige, beautiful, young society girl, is left penniless when her lawyer speculates with her money and loses. Stanley, however, cares little for the money, feeling that she has everything in the love of fascinating Drew Armitage. But when Drew breaks their engagement, saying it would be impossible to marry on his income, she is heartbroken. Rather than accept aid from her wealthy friends, Stanley rents a cheap furnished room and disappears from her exclusive circle to try and make her own way. Her friends agree that a better way would have been to marry handsome Perry Deverest, but Stanley cannot forget Drew. One day, she meets John Harmon Northrup, struggling young author. A strong friendship ensues and they become very necessary to one another. John Harmon is in love with Stanley but refrains from telling her because of Drew. At the beach, he catches her in his arms as she is about to fall. Her nearness intoxicates him. He tells himself he must never let it happen again but, try as he might, he cannot forget the ecstasy of that moment.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FIVE

He passed Stanley and reached the beach first. She came out of the ocean, shaking the water from her eyes, pulling off her tight scarlet cap.

"Let's build us a fire, John Harmon. I'm simply freezing cold!" They found driftwood and piled it up on the sand. The slow gray smoke hung heavily in the air, burst suddenly into blue flames, sprang into a leaping red blaze.

Stanley investigated the lunch basket and found some sandwiches. They ate them hungrily, sweaters tied about their shoulders, bodies relaxed and tingling in the warmth of the fire.

"I mustn't look at her," John Harmon thought desperately. "We must keep on talking," he thought. And there was nothing to say. "I've known this for a long time, but I've never admitted it. I never intended to—I don't intend to now." And he kept his eyes fixed on the ocean.

"It's been a day to remember," Stanley said softly, poking the fire with a sunbleached twig. "It's been lovely and gentle and sort of wistful. Haven't you felt like that about it, John Harmon?"

He nodded, still refusing her his eyes. "October is like that—beautiful and breathtaking and sort of poignant." He hesitated a bit over the last word. He was still a little shy about words like that. It was still easier to write them than to speak them.

"It's like an enchanting interlude," he went on slowly, "giving lavishly, promising nothing. That's what makes it so unbearably lovely, Stanley, the sense of elusiveness one feels about a day like this, the sense of flight, sustained for a moment, then gone forever." His voice stopped abruptly on a rough, tight note. It was not the day he was describing, but this other thing—this tremulous, fragile relationship between himself and this slim girl beside him. . . . an enchanting interlude promising nothing, the sense of flight—sustained for a moment, then gone forever.

Stanley was not looking at him. Her eyes were on the fire. She answered him softly, slowly. "That's all life is—don't you think?—beautiful moments held for a space, then gone forever."

A searing little pain flicked John Harmon's heart. He knew that note in Stanley's voice, he'd heard it often enough, heaven knows! He knew what he would find in her eyes, if he had the courage to look, knew the twisted, gallant little smile that would be lying on her lips. She hadn't forgotten. She might never forget. He closed his eyes swiftly, felt again the soft, warm pressure of her body against his, saw again the dripping sweetness of her mouth, the drenched softness of her eyes. . . . Knew that it must never happen again, that he must forget that it had ever happened at all.

"I've never really forgiven you, you know, for running away," said Marcia.

"I'm cold," Stanley sprang up suddenly. The fire had burned itself into a mound of crumbling coals, its deep pink and molten gold; its edges already curling softly into a frail, white ash.

"Time to be going home, John Harmon," she told him, giving him her hands, pulling him to his feet, "summer's over."

For a shattering, nerve-tightened second, he felt that surely his arms must go around her, that his mouth must find hers and cling there, that nothing mattered except his need of her—then, he knew it wasn't so, that always, now and forever, her need of him was the important thing, the only thing that would ever matter.

He dropped her hands, turned and walked with her up the beach. On the ride back into town John Harmon was very gay. He found a lot to talk about. He talked lightly and of inconsequential things, he talked against time and a moment he didn't want to remember, and a quiver in Stanley's voice that he couldn't forget. And Stanley listened, and laughed now and then, and said very little. She had found something rather precious in the country that day, she didn't want to lose it—and words dispel so many things.

The third week in October Marcia Wingate came back to town, Nigel Stern bought a new and rare portfolio of etchings—and Stanley lost her job.

Marcia slid back into her own particular groove in town with the sleek agility of a cat returning to its own back yard. Connections temporarily lost during the summer were picked up again, certain changes were noted and accepted; a divorce here, a marriage there, a new name added to her list, an old one dropped, an intrigue smiled upon, a scandal covered up. But all in all it was much the same sort of thing, one season after another—much light conversation, lovely clothes, carefully concealed emotions and cleverly expressed opinions.

It was Marcia's world. She moved in it, gracefully and with a great deal of pleasant assurance. She was rarely bored. Marcia, it will be remembered, was not clever. She was not troubled with any confusing ideas about life. She was troubled, in fact, by very few ideas of any kind, any she had were always well ordered and easily pigeon-holed.

She had not thought of Stanley in weeks, when one day she walked into her on Madison Avenue. She was crossing the pavement to her car when there, miraculously, was Stanley.

There was nothing miraculous about it at all, of course. Stanley passed here every night on her way home.

They shook hands. Marcia had considered whether to kiss her or not and the moment had passed. "I've never really forgiven you, you know, for running away."

"I've never forgotten how good both you and Ned were."

"You're looking well, Stanley, a bit thin perhaps."

"You're awfully fit yourself, Marcia. Have a nice summer?"

"Oh, the usual thing—rather more golf than usual. It's sort of nice to be back in town. You'll let us see something of your this winter, won't you, Stanley?"

"That would be nice—we could have tea sometime."

"You must come to dinner—just Ned and you and I and, perhaps, Perry."

Stanley's color deepened suddenly. "That sounds delightful, Marcia."

"You'll come, then? I'll telephone you. Well, it's been splendid seeing you. Ned will be glad to know you're looking so well. Good-bye."

"Good-bye, Marcia."

Stanley watched the long beige car nose its way arrogantly through the traffic—of course, Marcia wouldn't call her up—she would mean to, perhaps, but she would forget about it and eventually, when she thought about it, she would remember she didn't have her address.

Stanley turned and hurried on, a little smile on her lips, her eyes a bit grim. She had belonged and now she didn't. Marcia wasn't a snob but she had an instinct about things like that. Of course, if Stanley had chosen to marry Perry Deverest instead of fantastically running off to live in an impossible way with impossible people—the smile tightened on Stanley's lips.

PATTERN 9999

Give a man his coffee in a frock like this and he will vow it is good—even if it isn't! It is that kind of a frock! The ruffle about the shoulders is particularly fetching and it has nice new looking little pockets and a pretty treatment of the waistline. It takes a plaid beautifully, as you see, but a plaid is by no means necessary to its happiness—any nice print will do, or if you look better in a plain fabric, have it in that. The great point is to have it—and not miss so charming a design.

Pattern 9999 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44. Size 16 requires 3 1/2 yards 36 inch fabric.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for EACH MARIAN MARTIN pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, the STYLE NUMBER and SIZE of each pattern.

Undernourishment in Children Too Common

And Most Cases Can Be Traced to "Chooosing" and Wrong Eating Habits

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.

United States senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health,
New York City

I RECENTLY visited a large city hospital. On my tour of inspection I was taken to the children's ward and was amazed to see the number of children being treated for undernourishment. It is indeed a pathetic sight to see such youngsters, emaciated and undeveloped. At the very time of life they should be sturdy and happy, they are weak and miserable.

No doubt you will be surprised to learn that undernourishment in children is not always due to lack of funds to purchase necessary food.

MOVIES

AT THE CLIFTONA

That culture and civilization are only thin veneers which are easily stripped from men when confronted with "nature in the raw" is demonstrated in Cecil B. De Mille's latest Paramount picture, "Four Frightened People," which comes on Saturday to the Cliftona Theatre.

The best-selling novel of the same name by E. Arnot-Robertson was used by Hollywood's ace director as the basis for his film which he made entirely in the jungles on the Island of Hawaii.

Its unusual plot deals with the adventures of four Americans, two women and two men, who are forced to flee from a Dutch steamer when bubonic plague breaks out aboard. They land secretly in a wild spot on the coast of the Malay Peninsula and hire a half-caste guide to take them to the nearest seaport.

Instead of a three-day journey through the jungle it takes several months during which they become lost. Confronted with primitive life, they revert to living as the ancient ancestors lived. The prim, homely school-teacher, of whom the men would take no notice, becomes a radiant jungle creature over whom they ultimately fight.

This central character of the school-teacher is played by Claudette Colbert. The other three members of the quartet are Herbert Marshall, Mary Boland and William Gargan.

El Brendel, Fox comedian, has no hobby. His only avocation is his vocation. When he isn't working he sits at home and worries.

He worked in "My Lips Betray" for five days and called the studio

every day to find out if he was "still in the cast."

His wife, whom he first met when she was only 11 in a school-days act, classifies and catalogues his "jokes" which he collects by the trunkful. Brendel says present day comedians don't have to work for jokes and gags but just sit around a radio and steal enough stuff for an act. Asserts you couldn't get by the door man in the old days if you didn't have a brand new original joke or gag to pull on him.

Help Corn-Hog Control
FORT COLLINS, Colo. County agents throughout the state estimated at 13,000 farmers in 46 Colorado counties will sign contracts in connection with the federal government's corn-hog production control program. Cash benefit payments to the contracting farmers will total at least $2,000,000, according to estimates of T. G. Stewart, extension agronomist at the state Agricultural college here.

NEW PARTIES ENTER FIELD

COLUMBUS, May 18.—Harboring no illusion that their candidates may win in November, two minor political parties - Prohibition and Commonwealth - today, nevertheless, launched campaigns to bring out what they hope will be a big protest vote against the old line parties.

Methodist minister Aaron S. Watkins, Cairo, many times a candidate but never elected, and Charles A. Baine, Ashland, for U. S. senator and governor, respectively, headed the Prohibition ticket.

At the top of the Commonwealth party slate stood Fred G. Bale, Westerville, for senator, and John C. Williams, Columbus, president of the Ohio Methodist Protestant Conference, for governor.

GOT 19,575

Two years ago Dr. Watkins, running for governor, polled 19,575 votes for the prohibition party while Ohio voted 1,356,518 for Gov. George White (D) and 1,151,933 for David S. Ingalls (R). There was no Commonwealth ticket in 1932.

At that the grey-haired, erect prohibition party candidate got more votes than two other minor party candidates for governor in 1932. William Woodhouse, Socialist-Labor, polled only 1,784, and John Marshall, Communist, 6,349.

It was not through coincidence that the two minor parties held state conventions simultaneously. Prohibition party leaders attended to that in the hope that an amalgamation of the two might result, but there was no such consequence.

According to Dr. Watkins, the new Commonwealth group sprang from a schism that developed in the Prohibition party, with F. M. McCartney, Columbus, former Prohibition party state chairman, leaving it to help organize the new group.

The Commonwealth branch asserted the name "Prohibition" was offensive to many dries, but the leaders of the older party refused to accept a new designation contending that no other word so adequately describes their purpose.

Both these parties brand Republicans and Democrats alike as "traitors to the cause of prohibition" and abolition of the liquor traffic is their chief platform plank, although they do not overlook taxation and the financial crisis of the schools.

No bosom friend of the Anti-Saloon League, some Prohibition party mainstays professed to be shocked when the convention, having no other nominee, unanimously endorsed S. P. McNaught, Ohio Anti-Saloon League Superintendent for attorney general.

This was done soon after George D. Harger, Pittsburgh, the Pennsylvania party chairman, had reminded the delegates that "some have charged that the reason the Anti-Saloon league was organized was to keep dries from dropping out of the Republican and Democratic parties and coming over to the Prohibition party."

Harger laid responsibility for the repeal of prohibition directly on the doorstep of "stay-at-home" dries. He referred to them as "sleeping disciples of our Lord."

Ashville News

BAND IN PREPARATION
The Community band under the leadership of Director Fred J. Hines is holding weekly practice meetings in a room of the old school building. The boys are getting in shape for Memorial Day services.

BUY NEW PROPERTY
Mr. and Mrs. Harley Seymour, who sold their property on Scioto-st. to Mr. and Mrs. Gale Calvert, have purchased the Bert Bowers house and lot on N. Cromley-ave, which they now occupy. The consideration was $950.

Robert Eccard has purchased a new Chevrolet.

TO USE NEW REFRIGERATOR
O. R. Mithoff, the Long-st. grocer, has purchased the electric refrigerator outfit formerly used by J. S. Hoover in his west side meat market and is having it installed in his meat market in the Markley building. Mr. Hoover was compelled to suspend business on account of ailing health.

The Ashville schools closed Wednesday.

HOTEL IS REPAIRED
William Mantz made some needed repairs at the Ashville hotel building this week.

Marshall R. C. Weber and Constable Cecil Scott were in Columbus, Tuesday, on official business.

FORM VETERANS' GROUP
A veterans' organization to be comprised of Spanish War and World War veterans is to be formed at Ashville soon.

BUT FEW VACANCIES
There are very few if any vacant properties in Ashville at the present time. Several months ago there were a number of empty dwellings with no renters. The proposed federal projects are accountable for parties coming to our village.

At least ten or a dozen families of men employed at the plant of the Columbus Railway Power and Light Co. in northern Harrison-twp reside in Ashville. They have good positions and make desirable citizens.

FIDDLERS IN ACTION
The Old Fiddlers' concert at Meinhart Lane's restaurant each Wednesday night is fairly well attended. The musicians are A. W. Boker and Dick Wellington, violinists; Fred Younkin, pianist; Chet Griffey, guitar; Clarence Johnson, banjo, and Marion Gloyd, harmonica.

MEATS SCORE 33 IN GAME

A field day was presented at the recreation ball field, Thursday evening, when the McClarren Meats defeated the Ralston-Purina Chows, 33-5, in a seven inning fray. It was so dark at the end of seven innings that play was impossible.

No one is certain just what the score was. The 33-5 result was the nearest that could be determined.

Everyone had a good time although the score was so lopsided. The losing players took their defeat in good shape, never flinching but going onto the field innately after knowing that inevitable base hits would be dropping all around them and whizzing by their ears.

No effort was made to keep the number of base hits nor the number of errors committed.

About This And That

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

Next week's recreation ball schedule finds some good games promised.

Monday: Container Corporation vs. Circleville Oils.

Tuesday: Mecca restaurant vs. Eshelman Feeds.

Wednesday: Given Oils vs. Purina Chows.

Thursday: McClarren Meats vs. Circle City.

The Monday night game should be a hum-dinger with the strawboard outfit undefeated and the Circleville Oils trying to recover from the 10-8 whipping handed them by the Mecca restaurant during the past week. Pud Oliver and Carl Purcell will tangle on the mound.

Tuesday will find Eddie Callahan and his feed-men doing their damndest to oust the Meccas with Bill Hegele on the hill from their top-perch. The Given Oils are favorites over the Purinas, but not too sure. Wednesday, while the McClarrens might be given an edge over the dairy-men Thursday evening.

Columbus has farmed another mighty good ball player, Eddie Delker, who has been sent to Elmira. He joins Terry Moore and Tom Angley, two other good performers. It's quite a setback for Delker who was in the big show with the Phillie Nationals last year.

One of the secrets of the early season success of the Mecca restaurant team is that no player is certain what position he will play, or whether or not he will be in the starting lineup when the game starts. Cum Robinson, directing the destinies of the club, has all the players guessing and has even threatened two of them, Pinkie Wilson and Dutch Wefler, with trips to Elmira if they don't start fielding according to Hoyle in a short time.

OHIOANS THIRD IN EARLY TENNIS TEST

CHICAGO, May 18.—University of Chicago today was leading in the annual Western conference tennis tournament after the first day of play with a total of eight points.

Michigan was close behind with 7 1-2. Ohio State had garnered 4 1-2 points toward the league title; Minnesota and Illinois, 4 each; Purdue 3, and Iowa, Wisconsin and Northwestern, 2 each.

Leonard Buskirk was in good form for his team having the Chow hitters at his mercy throughout. It is believed this score is the highest ever scored in the local league.

Tonight's game finds the Circleville Oils meeting the State Highway department division No. 6 team. The contest is booked at 6:15.

The highway department team is fast and boasts a crew of heavy hitters including a number of former Ohio State stars. Blackie Conrad or Paul Heinemann are expected to climb on the hill for the invaders while Carl Purcell will toss them for the local outfit.

A large crowd is expected to witness this contest.

Bowling News

Bach-Herdman took three out of four games from Rush-Watts Thursday evening in the doubles league and Vining-Shea and Bettis-Gib split their four games.

Two splendid totals were bowled in the two contests. Bob Herdman counted 148-253-225-178 for a neat 804 total, while Vining and Shea combined 227 and 220 in their final game to tally 447 a high single game count. Bach and Herdman also broke 400 in their second encounter. Bach and Rush and Watts counted 424, and Rush and Watts counted 403 in their third encounter.

The scores:

Buckeye Conference Stars

This galaxy of Buckeye conference track stars will be seen in the ninth annual conference track and field meet to be held at Ohio Wesleyan university, Delaware, on Friday and Saturday, May 25 and 26.

Jim Gilmore, Ohio university's ace half-mile and Buckeye champion in that event, and Jim Cole, Miami sophomore star, will tangle in the half-mile run, which likely will be the feature of the meet. Gilmore was beaten by Cole earlier in the season in a dual meet. Gilmore lives in Hamilton and Cole in Richmond, Ind.

Oscar Willenzik, Cincinnati's conference champion in the 440, seems to be the class of the field in that event again this year and likely will repeat. He lives in Pensacola, Fla.

The other two men in the above layout are Earl Lykins, Marshall's javelin ace, who won in the Buckeye meet a year ago, and Howard White, Ohio Wesleyan's "one-man track team," winner last year of both hurdles and the broad jump.

Lykins lives in Huntington, W. Va., and White in Circleville.

FISH STOCKING PLAN IN OHIO GOES FORWARD

Many Inland Lakes, Streams Being Filled With Game-Fish By State.

COLUMBUS, May 18.—Ohio's annual spring program of stocking its inland lakes and streams with game-fish is going ahead under "full stream."

As rapidly as adult breeders can be obtained from Lake Erie and Rockwell, they are being distributed throughout the state. The shipments include large and small mouth black bass, rock bass, catfish, bluegills and crappies. An effort also is to be made to secure a large number of wall-eyed pike and some muskies for suitable waters.

At the present time, the shipments consist mostly of white and black crappies. The crappie is a popular fish in all parts of Ohio. It is easily taken, biting readily on small minnows. The best bet when fishing for crappies is to use a light cane pole and bobber and to drop the line near stumps or logs or brush under the water.

The season on crappies is open throughout the year; the legal length is six inches and the bag limit 25 per day, combined species. They are called Lake Eries at Buckeye Lake, New Lights or Lamplighters in southern Ohio and in the Portage Lakes they are known as shad. The proper name is crappie, although they generally are known as crappies.

Ohio's inland lakes, include Lake St. Marys' Indian Lake, Lake Loraine, Portage Lakes and Buckeye Lake are being restocked with crappies.

In Ohio, 64 per cent of the farms having cows have more than five of them.

BIRDS GRANTED ONLY TWO HITS

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 18.—The Columbus Red Birds today have suffered their second straight defeat at the hands of the Kansas City American Association baseball team as the fast-traveling Blues climbed into second place in the league race. The Blues trounced the Birds here yesterday, 4 to 0. The two-hit pitching of "Hobo" Carson featured the game.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 18.—Hammering three Toledo pitchers hard, the Milwaukee Brewers today had evened the series with the Ohioans by defeating the Mud Hens here yesterday, 9 to 4. Polli hurled for the Brewers and only gave up seven hits.

Spencer to Buffalo

BUFFALO, May 18.—Roy H. Spencer, a catcher, has been purchased from the Cleveland club of the American league, officials of the Buffalo Bisons of the International league announced today. The purchase price was not divulged.

lines, one running from the Pickaway and Big Walnut generating stations of The Columbus Railway, Power & Light Company, south of Columbus, and the other running from the generating station of The Southern Ohio Electric Company, south of Nelsonville. The additional substation planned for Chillicothe is designed solely to give local consumers two sources of distribution supply after transmission lines have brought it into the city.

Another improvement planned by The Southern Ohio Electric Company is an increase in the voltage of its lines running out of Chillicothe to Waverly, Piketon, Richmond Dale and intervening points. They will be raised from 6,900 to 13,200, increasing the capacity of these lines to take care of continually growing load in those sections and greatly improving service to customers.

FEAR BREWERIES TO HURT STREAMS

COLUMBUS, May 18.—Fears that with the reopening of breweries and distilleries in the state, there will be increased contamination of Ohio's streams from the wastes flowing from these plants, are dispelled by officials of the state department of health with the assertion that a "save-all" system of wastes treatment will eliminate the difficulty.

They point to the plant at Lynchburg, O., which was used in 1906 to take care of wastes emanating from the distillery there. It was not only a satisfactory method but was decidedly profitable to the plant, it is said.

It is expected that the same method will be used again at Lynchburg. According to researches conducted by the health department, the wastes emanating from the plant were removed from the streams by a screening process. Nearly 10 percent of the waste could be converted into a dry cattle feed at a high rate of profit.

Another 50 percent of the material taken from the stream was utilized as a liquid food for cattle it was pointed out.

More than $4,000 profit was realized yearly from the waste product taken from the stream.

A practical trial of this evaporation method use at Lynchburg indicates that it will not only prove satisfactory, but will also yield a source of profit when used by other plants.

to: Champaign for library work; Clark for street repair at Springfield, Coshocton for repairs at West Lafayette school, Green for 10 projects including building, construction of dams and work on ditches, Hardin improvement of cemetery and construction of sewer at Kenton, Guernsey for ditch work, Highland for repair work at the armory at Hillsboro, and Logan for street repair in Bellefontaine.

COLUMBUS, May 18.—Approximately 15,000 men are expected to be given employment on NRA and NRS highway projects in Ohio during May, an increase of nearly 5,000 over last month, Merrell's report showed.

cramped into the desert grave for the little victim's meals. The grocer said the purchaser of the food was a stranger in Tucson.

Officers also were reported to have found in the Hell hole in which June was imprisoned a half-torn letter containing a Chicago postmark, recalling that it was from Chicago on May 10 a letter was mailed to Gov. B. B. Moeur of Arizona enclosing a map and giving instructions that led to the discovery of June's prison.

ONE MAN JAILED

One suspect has remained in custody here since Wednesday.

The man refused to admit any connection with the kidnapping although once last night it was learned he said he would "talk" if proper negotiations could be made. His meaning was not clarified.

A second held in technical custody since yesterday, but not under arrest, still was under observation.

Although all law enforcement agencies were tightly drawing a dragnet about a third suspect, believed possibly in Chicago, officers here refused to comment.

Undersheriff Colby S. "Jake" Farrar still was attempting to track the manager's footprints and automobile tire impressions at the scene of the "torture racket."

Fingerprints found on the articles in June's coffin were airmailed to the bureau of investigation in Washington in the hope that in the files may be found an identification.

June graciously posed for newspaper photographers and told the story of her second visit to the "torture coffin" site from which she was rescued.

She held tightly to the hand of her mother, Mrs. Fernando Robles, when she inspected the Hell hole. "That's where the man shoved me and made me stay," the little girl said, as she pointed to the desert grave.

Highway Director O. W. Merrell reported to Governor George White today.

During April 10,470 men were employed on highway projects and were paid a total of $329,516.77, Merrell's report showed.

Now we ask you to

WHY do you suppose Chevrolet keeps repeating, in all of its advertising, "Drive it only 5 miles"? Here's the reason: Chevrolet engineers have tried out all the various makes of cars in today's low-price field. And they have proved, to their complete satisfaction, the same things that hundreds of thousands of Chevrolet owners are proving in their daily driving: How much more smoothly a car travels with genuine, fully-enclosed Knee-Action. How much more comfortably it handles, with shock-proof steering. How much more restfully you ride, in a Fisher Body car. How much more safely you drive, with cable-controlled brakes. And how much finer performance and better economy are secured from an overhead-valve Six! In other words, Chevrolet engineers know for sure that the Chevrolet ride simply can't be matched by any other in the low-price field. They know it—thousands of owners know it—and now we want you to know it too, before you make your final choice of a low-priced car. CHEVROLET MOTOR CO., DETROIT, MICH.

JACKSON-TWP TEACHERS HONOR SUPT. McDOWELL

The teachers of the Jackson-Twp grade and high schools honored Supt. George McDowell, at a farewell luncheon at the school Thursday noon.

A pink and white color scheme was carried out in the attractive table appointments for the three course luncheon.

The delightful affair was a pleasant surprise to the honor guest, who has been at the head of the Jackson schools for the past eleven years and who on Aug. 1 will become superintendent of the county schools.

Because of the high esteem with which he is held by his teachers and in appreciation of his loyal help, he was presented with a beautiful brief-case by Miss Nelle Riffle in behalf of her co-workers.

Enjoying the affair were the teachers, Miss Ethel Noggle, Miss Edith Trump, Miss Mabel Kern, Miss Helen Baker, Miss Nelle Riffle, J. L. Chilcote, Miss Janette Hoekman, G. J. Lampl, G. D. Bradley, Miss Mary Rodheffer and the honor guest, Mr. McDowell; three guests, Mrs. McDowell, and daughter, Violet, and Mrs. Bradley, and the custodians of the school, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Black.

CLUB ENTERTAINED AT DINNER PARTY

Mrs. William Foresman, S. Scioto-st., entertained with a charming dinner party Thursday evening at her home. Guests were members of her Thursday night bridge club.

For the dinner at six o'clock covers were laid for Mrs. Edgar Barrere, Mrs. Henry Lewis, Mrs. C. E. Groce, Mrs. John Bennett, Miss Grace Moodie, Mrs. James I. Smith, Mrs. Charles Lewis, Mrs. H. P. Folsom and Mrs. Foresman.

Cards were enjoyed after the dinner hour.

MRS. REICHELDERFER HONORED AT PARTY

Mrs. Frank Reichelderfer, Jackson-Twp, was pleasantly surprised Thursday evening, when a group of friends gathered at her home in celebration of her birthday anniversary.

Bridge was the diversion of the enjoyable evening and prizes were awarded Leland Dunkel, Austin Rader, Mrs. Reichelderfer and Mrs. Max Rader for high score.

A delicious lunch was served late in the evening bringing the party to a close.

Enjoying the affair were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Call of Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Butts of Kingston; Miss Eloise Hilyard and Leland Dunkel, this city; Mr. and Mrs. George Shook, Mr. and Mrs. Oris Rader, Mr. and Mrs. James Butts, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Max Rader, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Rhoades, Miss Della Hoffman, Ross Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Austin Rader and Mr. and Mrs. Reichelderfer.

TEACHERS ENJOY OUTING THURSDAY

Teachers of the local schools including high and grade schools, enjoyed an outing, Thursday evening after school hours.

About forty five motored to Ash Cave for a picnic supper. This was the second social gathering of the new teachers' association organized this year.

SHINING LIGHT BIBLE CLASS ELECTS OFFICERS

The May meeting of the Shining Light Bible class was held Thursday evening in the United Brethren Community house, with forty members and guests present.

It opened with a song service and devotionals by Miss Viola Woolver. A short business session followed during which the annual election of officers was held under the direction of Mrs. Jennie Steele, class teacher.

Mrs. Roy Groce was named president; Mrs. Cora Coffland, vice president; Mrs. Ralph Long, recording secretary; Mrs. Ed. Millions, treasurer; Mrs. Charles Betz, flower treasurer; Mrs. Agnes Accord, pianist; and Mrs. Iley Greco, chorist.

A program in charge of Mrs. T. C. Harper was presented by sons, daughters and granddaughters of several class members.

A group of selections by a vocal trio was the first number. The trio, Misses Lucile Kirkwood, Pauline Accord and Margaret Long, sang "Harvest Moon" and "Somebody Loves You." Miss Virginia Harper was accompanist.

John Hegele, bass, accompanied by Mrs. Aubrey Lenley, sang "Any Old Port" and an encore number, "Wagon Wheels."

This was followed by a recitation by little Freda Frances Roth, granddaughter of Mrs. Charles Skinner, and a vocal solo by little Betty Jane Bostwick.

The program concluded with two more numbers by the trio, "Throw Another Log on the Fire" and "This Little Pig Went to Market."

A social hour ensued during which dainty refreshments were served by the outgoing officers, Miss Cora Hampshire, Mrs. Charles McFadden, Mrs. Ernest May and Mrs. Ralph Long assisted by Miss Daisy Woolver, Mrs. Ida Oakley and Mrs. Effie Albright.

KINGSTON MEMBER ENTERTAINS CLUB

Mrs. Carson Dresbach, of Kingston, was hostess at a charming one o'clock luncheon Thursday at her home. Guests were members of her sewing club.

Covers were laid for Mrs. J. Wallace Crist, Mrs. Henry Mader, Mrs. Charles Smith, Mrs. Charles Myers, Mrs. Harry Dresbach, Mrs. Ralph Boggs and Miss May Heffner, this city, and Mrs. Labon Young and Mrs. Alice Riegel, Kingston.

100 ATTEND OPENING OF DANCE HALL

About 100 members of the Pickaway Country club enjoyed the opening of the club's dance hall, "The Old Barn," Friday evening with the house committee in charge. Hildeburn Jones was chairman assisted by Mrs. Paul Adkins, Mrs. Tom A. Renick, Miss Ann Bennett, A. L. Wilder and William D. Radloff.

Harold Dresbach and his orchestra furnished music for dancing and refreshments were served.

PYTHIAN SISTERS HAVE CELEBRATION THURSDAY

Majors' temple Pythian Sisters celebrated its thirteenth anniversary Thursday evening in the lodge rooms with a covered-dish supper following its regular business session.

The occasion also celebrated the eighty-sixth birthday anniversary of John Majors, one of the temple's charter members, who was presented with a birthday cake by Mrs. Charles Stofor.

A very pleasant social evening was enjoyed by forty members and guests.

J. W. Johnson, N. Court-st., left Friday morning for a ten days' visit with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Joy of Detroit.

Rev. and Mrs. Herman A. Sayre, N. Pickaway-st., will have as their guests over the week-end, Mrs. W. W. Whitlatch and daughter, Miss Pauline Whitlatch, of near Athens. They were members of Rev. Sayre's choir while he was pastor of the First M. E. church of Nelsonville, and will sing in the local church Sunday morning at 10:30.

Misses Anne Hathaway and Jane Brown, of Chillicothe, will be weekend guests of Miss Ann Bennett, S. Court-st. and will attend the formal opening Saturday night of the Pickaway Country club's dance hall.

MANY FARMERS TO ATTEND DISTRICT MEETING MAY 25

An all-day district farm bureau meeting will be held at Lancaster on May 25, according to local officials, who announce that a large delegation of farm families from this county, a unit in the district, will attend. The meeting has been scheduled in co-operation with officials of the Ohio Farm bureau, at Columbus, to discuss a new and enlarged program of organization and co-operative activities, recently developed by the farm group.

"Our Strongest Defense is Attack" will be the topic for discussion by two representatives of the state organization from Columbus. District officials and local farm leaders will also appear on the program. Entertaining numbers will be interspersed throughout the day's program, which will start at 10 o'clock in the morning. The county having the largest attendance in the district will receive a banner, to be awarded by the state farm bureau. There are four counties in this district. The award will be made on a mileage basis.

The 1934 farm bureau program is designed to restore purchasing power and to develop a more satisfactory life on Ohio farms, according to Perry L. Green, president of the Ohio Farm Bureau. Similar meetings are being held in all districts of the state this month.

INCREASE IN MEMBERS

Farmers are displaying a much greater interest this year in organization activities and the co-operative movement, according to W. G. Winemiller, of the organization division of the Ohio Farm bureau.

N. R. A. Service Codes Comprise Bear Which Johnson Holds by Tail

WASHINGTON — General Hugh Johnson is looking for a handy tree.

He has caught a large and ferocious bear by the tail, and like the proverbial huntsman, hasn't leave go, doesn't hold on.

The service codes—barbers, beauty shops, hotels, taxis, etc.—he has decided to abandon as impossible to enforce.

The plan, however, is proving easier said than done.

The transient industry—street cars and buses—have bluntly told him that they will not stand for junking of the taxi code.

And to prove they mean business they have backed up their warning with two specific threats:

1. If the taxi code is discarded, the Transit Code Authority proposes to resign at once in a body.

2. Following that step, the industry will air in the press certain items of NRA "dirty linen," which it has reason to believe the General is not anxious to have exposed.

These items consist of the fact that hanging fire within the NRA are a number of non-compliance charges against transit companies. No action has been taken on them for six months.

Why there has been no "cracking down" is a mystery. The complaints have been shifted from one division to another, each apparently passing the buck.

Hold Everything

Young Henry Morgenthau was surprised one morning to read a columnist's report that he was about to be sent abroad as Ambassador to France to make room for "Barney" Baruch as Secretary of the Treasury.

It was news to him. And so, apparently, it was to President Roosevelt.

At any rate, about noon of the same day, the Treasury chief got a little note on White House stationery, which read:

"As Al Smith cabled the Pope November 8, 1928, 'unpack'."

No Surprise

To insiders, there was nothing surprising in the sudden action of Oklahoma's inflationary Senator Elmer Thomas in offering an amendment to scuttle the President's "Truth in Securities" Act.

Progressive inflationists were amazed over this display of Toryism. But they didn't know their man.

There isn't a trace of real liberalism in Thomas's economic thinking. His inflation following is unadulterated politics.

Oklahoma has always been a hot-bed of monetary populism. More money cranks emerge from its boundaries than old kings. Clamor for monetary experimentation pays good political dividends, and Elmer has his eyes on the main chance.

The tip-off on Thomas is to be found in two minor side-lights.

1. He was a DePauw University classmate of Dr. "Eat-and-Tell" Wirt. When the latter uncorked his fantastic tale of a Brain Trust Red-revolution, Thomas went wringing his hands in grave alarm.

2. In his every day attire, the Oklahoma man is one of the best-dressed men in Congress. His tall, erect, white topped figure is draped by expensive tailors in the most meticulous manner. But the photograph which usually appears in newspapers and magazines pictures the Senator from Oklahoma in tattered overalls. He put them on after one of his inflation harangues and then called in the news photographers.

Tough Nut

It is a lucky thing for goateed John H. Fahy, head of the Home Owners Loan Corporation, that his appointment is not up for confirmation at this session of Congress.

He would most certainly never get by the throat-cutting gang of Democratic patronage-grabbers now ruling the Senate. They would nail his hide on a fence.

Fahy, a quiet-spoken but decisive New England publisher, former President of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, is known on Capitol Hill as the toughest New Dealer (Continued on Page Seven)

MRS. MORRIS REMAINS OUT OF COUNTY RACE

Local Woman Not to Seek Another Term, She Announces Friday

MANY TO SEEK JOB Completes Fourth Term December 31

The door was thrown open today for a real contest for county recorder this fall when Mrs. Mary G. Morris, incumbent, announced she will not be a candidate to succeed herself. It had been previously reported that Mrs. Morris would run for re-election if the Ohio Supreme court ruled that a two-year extender for recorders in office was unconstitutional. The supreme court ruled against the extender.

With the deadline for filing primary petitions just four weeks from today, June 15, it is expected the office of the Board of Elections will be kept busy with candidates seeking nomination petitions. It is known that a number of persons were withholding announcements until Mrs. Morris always a strong political campaigner, decided whether or not she would run. With her decision finally made it is expected they will waste no time on planning their campaigns.

TWO REPUBLICANS IN

Two Republican candidates are already in the field: Misses Hulda Redd and Hulda Burns, both of this city. They have their petitions out but have not yet filed them making themselves confirmed candidates. It is also possible that others will seek the Republican nomination.

Mrs. Morris, with her deputy, Miss Mary Armstrong, have officially conducted the recorder's office during their regime. Mrs. Morris will complete her fourth 2-year term Dec. 31.

67 PER CENT OF PICKAWAY VOTED ON STATE ISSUES

Sixty-seven per cent of the eligible electors of Pickaway-county cast ballots on four major state issues at the last election, figures announced by Secretary of State George S. Myers, Friday, disclosed. The figure is just about the average percentage as far as the state is concerned.

Pickaway's percentage of 86 per cent was high and Lawrence-county's 53.75 per cent was low. In counties surrounding Pickaway the following percentages prevailed: Ross, 66.5; Hocking, 64.75; Madison, 69.75; Franklin, 82.25; Fairfield, 77.5; Fayette, 71.25.

Pickaway's vote on the four state issues varied. The largest number cast ballots on the issue of prohibition, 70 per cent, then came reduction of the tax limitation on real estate, 61 per cent, then county home rule, 60 per cent.

In 11 counties including Hocking and Ross more than one-third of the voters failed to express a preference on state issues. Twenty counties reported fewer than one-fifth of those voting failed to either vote for or against state issues. Franklin was the only county in this district doing so.

HORSE SHATTERS ED. DOWDEN'S LEG

WOMAN HURT AS CARS HIT

Wreck at Bell's Siding Caused When Auto Turns In Road; Back Injured.

Mrs. Carrie Sisson, of Porter, near Gallipolis, is in University hospital, Columbus, suffering from back injuries after figuring in an automobile accident at Bell's siding at 4 p. m. Thursday.

She was riding in the Chevrolet automobile of her son, Stephen B. Sisson.

The Sisson car and the Ford driven by W. H. Stebelton, of the Scioto Trail, crashed when Stebelton started to turn around at the siding. Neither car was badly damaged and Mrs. Sisson's injury was the only one of any consequence.

Stebelton was accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Bessie Courtwright.

Sisson was traveling south, according to Deputy Miller Pugh, who investigated. Mrs. Sisson was taken to the hospital in the Rinehart ambulance.

Several years ago Stebelton and Mrs. Courtwright were injured when their automobile, being turned in the road, was struck by the machine of one of the Brewer brothers of Chillicothe.

WOMAN'S BODY FOUND IN WELL

Mrs. Ben Stewart, 42, Last Seen Saturday; Probable Theory of Murder.

GALLIPOLIS, May 18.—Investigation was launched here today into the strange circumstances surrounding the death of Mrs. Ben Stewart, 42, whose body was found in a well yesterday near the Gallipolis airport.

The body was found by a woman who had gone to the well to get a bucket of water.

Mrs. Stewart, investigation disclosed, was last seen Saturday night. At that time she was in the company of friends in an automobile. All had been drinking, it was said.

Coroner Lewis Brown, who was conducting the probe into the woman's death, indicated he was investigating the possibility that Mrs. Stewart might have been slain and her body disposed of in the well.

ST. PHILIP'S HOLDS MEMORIAL SERVICE

Lawrence J. Jeffries, son of Mrs. T. F. Jeffries, S. Scioto-st., has taken a position in the insurance division of the state, it was announced here today.

COUNTIANS WARNED OF PENSION 'GYP'

Residents of the western part of Pickaway-county were warned, Friday, that a man and woman representing themselves as agents for the Old Age Pension Commission are known to have extorted $5 from a Mt. Sterling resident on promise of signing him up for three to five years to receive $30 monthly.

There is no one soliciting for the pension commission. Sheriff Charles Radcliff should be notified if any such person appears.

S. O. ELECTRIC TO SPEND SUM IN ROSS CITY

$40,000 Expense For New Installation at Sub-station Is Announced.

CHILLICOTHE, May 18.—Plans now nearing completion by The Southern Ohio Electric Company will provide Chillicothe with a light and power service unsurpassed by any city anywhere.

The plans contemplate doubling the capacity of the present substation at the foot of Chestnut-st., thus making available a supply of energy ample to serve a city several times the size of Chillicothe.

The chief reason for the improvement, however, is to assure continuous service under all conditions and to guard against interruptions which embarrass the company quite as much as they inconvenience its patrons.

The present equipment of the Chillicothe substation includes three 1,000 K. V. A. transformers. This will be increased by the addition of two 1,500 K. V. A. transformers. These new transformers, with oil circuit breakers, automatic switches, etc., will be installed in a separate steel structure and will be an additional substation, constituting a duplication of present facilities.

CONTINUOUS SERVICE

In the event of the failure of one substation, such as was caused by the blowing out of a polehead on February 19 last, the other substation will go into immediate service. Thus the company will be equipped with the equivalent of a spare tire on an automobile or a radio with four spare tires. But service will be restored in event of an interruption more quickly than an autoist can change a tire.

All materials and equipment for the additional substation have been ordered and construction will start in the near future. It will take two months to complete the work at a cost of $40,000.

The present sources of electric supply for Chillicothe can not be improved. The city secures energy from two separate transmission lines.

TUCSON HEARS "LYNCH" CRIES

Threats Heard on Streets As Officers Are Believed Closing Net.

TUCSON, Ariz., May 18.—Checking fingerprints on June Robles' "torture coffin," combing the desert for clues, and questioning all persons who may have knowledge that would point to the girl's kidnapers, the law moved grimly forward today in its search for the men that held little June prisoner for 19 days.

TUCSON, Ariz., May 18.—The spirit of old Judge Lynch rode the Arizona range today on the trail of the kidnapers of little June Robles.

Threats to lynch the abductors of the 6-year-old school girl continued to be voiced today and officers proceeded cautiously in their investigations.

One suspect was in custody, several under surveillance. Cowboys and grizzled pioneers of this southwestern desert country seconded as a "good idea" June's childish desire that "if you catch those bad men I want you to put chains on their legs like they did on me in that old box."

"Hanging would be too good for them," was a sentiment frequently expressed on Tucson streets.

"We are no nearer a solution to the identity of the kidnapers than we were when June was abducted from a street here April 25," Sheriff John Belton said.

Meanwhile, 18 distinct fingerprints were found on sticky dusty bottles of jam and grape juice which were taken from the "horror coffin" from which June was rescued 19 days after she was "snatched" from a Tucson street while en route home from school.

Authorities obtained from a grocer, whose identity was not disclosed, a detailed description of a "sleazy man" who bought the cartons of fruit and other foodstuffs (Continued on Page Six)

STATE GRANTS SUM FOR CITY SCHOOL WORK

Relief Commission Announces $6,247, to Be Used for Materials

ELATES SCHOOL MEN

FERA Labor to Resume Work in Short Time

Local relief and school officials were notified, Friday, that the state relief commission has approved expenditures of $6,247 of federal money for the addition to the Walnut-st school building upon which work was suspended when the Civil Works administration went out of existence March 31.

School board members were jubilant to learn of the grant which will, when received, greatly alleviate matters concerning construction of the addition to the Walnut school.

E. W. Weiler, relief director, said Friday that he believed the money would be applied to materials purchased for the work but not paid for.

WORK UNDER F. E. R. A.

The school project has been added to the Federal Relief administration and as soon as other projects now underway are completed men will be assigned to the job. About 25 per cent of the work on the building has been completed.

Robert G. Colville, school board member, disclosed today.

Work has been just about finished on the north end sewer. A crew has been assigned to the airport site north of the city and is now at work cleaning up the property in preparation for actual construction work. Money for materials for this job is provided by the state division of aviation from a federal grant for Ohio.

Mr. Weiler said that 152 persons are now on the work division lists under the FERA.

DROUGHT FEAR TIGHTENS GRIP

Temperature Climbs To 100-Degree Mark in Middle-western States.

CHICAGO, May 18.—Drought tightened its grip on the parched grain belt today, aggravated by temperatures that ranged between the 80 and 100 degree level.

The heat and drought will continue for another 24 hours at least, broken only by local showers. Forecaster C. A. Donnel announced here. Rain may bring some relief to the arid northwest states, Minnesota, North Dakota and Wisconsin, according to Donnel. Illinois and Michigan, too, were promised cooling rains.

Extreme heat and dry south-west winds heightened the damage already done to grain crops, pastures and truck crops yesterday, throughout the middle west.

CLIMBS TO 104

At Huron, S. D., the mercury reached 104 to set an early season record.

An acute lack of feed in the dairying sections of Wisconsin and Illinois caused directors of the Pure Milk association here to request of the AAA an increase in the price of fluid milk from $1.75 to $2.25 per hundred pounds.

Cows were reported dying in Wisconsin pastures for want of feed and water. Scores of dairy farmers are selling their stock. Hay reported from the south is costing Wisconsin farmers $20 a ton.

Lake Michigan has fallen to within one foot of its all-time low level, while streams in the Chicago area are fast running dry. Ladder barges on the upper Mississippi and Missouri rivers were finding it difficult to navigate the shallow waters.

Realization that the drought has progressed so far that crops in the middle west and plains states cannot retrieve their losses even with copious rains caused grain prices to soar on the Board of Trade here again. Reports of serious trade storms in Manitoba and Saskatchewan provinces likewise proved a factor in the price rise.

JULY WHEAT UP

July wheat has gained 11 cents a bushel in the past three weeks, closing yesterday at 89 1/2 cents. May wheat closed at 91 1/2 cents, for a three weeks rise of 16 cents. Corn that was quoted at 43 1/2 cents three weeks back went to 48 cents yesterday.

Effort To Alter Federal System Told By Speaker

Using as his subject "The News Behind the Headlines," Charles Milton Newcomb, of Delaware, warned Rotarians, Thursday, of the progress of organized efforts to destroy the democratic form of government of the United States.

He related the history of the origin of communism and socialism and told of the efforts of these organizations to cause trouble in this country. "Communism is destructive," he asserted, "and with force and violence they seek to abolish private property. The followers of communism believe in extreme acts to stir up trouble and have become highly organized in this country."

U. S. MAY HALT MUNITION SALE

Embargo To Warring South American Countries Backed By Roosevelt.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—This government will shortly move to declare an embargo against the shipment of arms and munitions to the warring republics of Paraguay and Bolivia, it was learned on high authority today.

President Roosevelt believes the time has arrived when this nation should clean its hands of any allegations that it is benefiting in any way from the South American dispute.

Not only is this government prepared to cooperate with the League of Nations in an international embargo, but it is possible that the United States may lead the way by acting independently even before the league plan goes into effect.

ABDUCTION OF 1904 CLEARED BY MAN 30

PETTIT ROCHER, N. B. May 18.—Kidnaped from his crib in 1904 and long since given up as dead by his parents, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter B. Arsenault was restored to them under the name of Bill Knockton.

He had suffered cruel treatment, privation and adventure during the thirty years, which had intervened since he was kidnaped.

He swept his aged mother and father into his arms when identification was firmly fixed in their minds—and in the minds of his relatives, his friends and his own.

POLICEMAN'S SON HELD AS BANDIT

AKRON, May 18.—Three youths, one of them the son of a police officer, were being held in jail here today on charges of highway robbery following their confessions to several holdups.

The youthful bandit's career of crime was tipped up when one of the youths, Fred Ward, 19, son of Police Sergeant Frank Ward, left a blackjack with his father's name on it in one of their holdup victims' cars.

Told that a blackjack with his name on it had been found in the holdup victim's car, Sgt. Ward questioned his son who admitted his complicity in the robbery and implicated the two other youths, George Hanes, 19, and William Morris, 19, as his alleged accomplices.

DILLINGER NAMED IN BANK JOB

Flint, Mich. Druggist Says Bandit Held Gun to His Forehead

OVER $25,000 TAKEN

Three Men, Woman Raid Institution This Morning

FLINT, Mich., May 18.—John Dillinger was tentatively identified today as the leader of a gang of three men and one woman who raided the Citizens Commercial and Savings bank and escaped with loot estimated at $25,000 to $30,000.

The identification was made by Kirk Roland, a druggist whose pharmacy is close to the scene of the holdup, near the Chevrolet plant.

"It was Dillinger," Roland said. "I know the scar on his face." He was shown a police photo of the nation's premier desperado, and promptly verified his previous identification.

AFTER HUGE SUM

Roland had gone into the bank on business, he told police, and had taken a pistol with him, which he expected to bring back a considerable sum of money.

When the thugs entered he attempted to draw his gun. "Dillinger put his machine gun against my forehead and put his foot on top of mine," Roland said. "He told me: 'If I feel a move in your foot I'll let you know it.'"

"All through the holdup I stood like that—me with my foot reaching back toward the door," he said. "Dillinger's machine gun pressed against my forehead, and his foot was down on mine."

LOOKED IN FACE

"I'm positive it was Dillinger," looked into his face all the time the other guy was climbing into the cage and getting the money."

Bank officials could not be positive of the identification, but all said the leader of the gang of thugs generally fitted Dillinger's description as to weight, height and general appearance.

COLUMBUS, N. J., May 18.—In a hold daylight foray three armed bandits escaped with a $575 payroll taken from two employees of a manufacturing company here today.

After trailing the employees several blocks, the bandits leaped from their automobile to the sidewalk, and closed their eyes. The employees at bay with revolvers while the other chased the second man up a flight of stairs and snatched the money satchel.

COLUMBUS' DINGY DISTRICTS TO END

COLUMBUS, May 18.—Dingy, squalid sections of Columbus, which have long been "eye-sores" to the city, are to be scraped off the landscape and replaced with parks and playgrounds and model dwellings.

Riddance of the "eye-sores" spots was assured today with the authorization by the Ohio Board of Housing of the creation of a municipal housing authority.

The housing authority, with a membership of five citizens, will have the power to condemn property, issue notes and debentures or any other evidence of indebtedness.

DAILEY RESIGNS 'VEHICLE' POST

COLUMBUS, May 18.—Glen M. Dailey today had resigned as registrar of the Ohio Bureau of Motor Vehicles, effective June 15, to accept a position as general manager of the Ohio Automotive Association with which he formerly was connected.

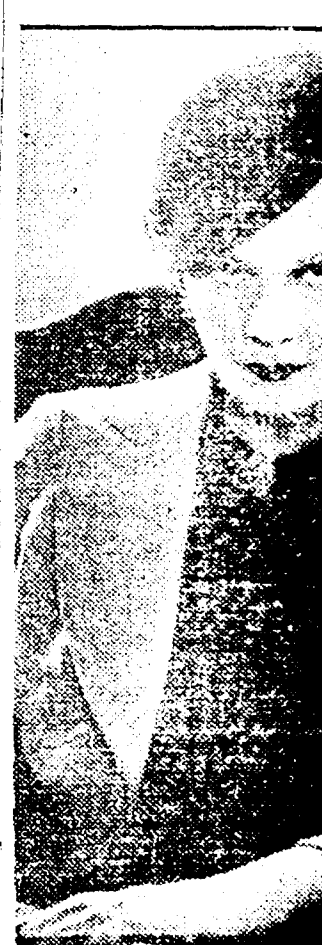

Announcement of the resignation was made by State Highway Director O. W. Merrill, who said that Dailey would be succeeded by Frank H. West of Columbus.

HOMWOOD FREED

WALKER, N. Y., May 18.—Shirley H. Homewood, the young man who sprang into international fame when he decided on and rather than marriage, went home today, having served one year, five months and 14 days of his sentence for seducing socially prominent Charlotte Gibson under promise of marriage.

He was home $15.60 to the good—the sum he earned while in prison here. His original fine of $500 was waived when Homewood pleaded poverty and a ruined business because of the publicity at his trial. He is a riding man.

Plays With Doug

Princess Natalie Paley, daughter of Grand Duke Paul of Russia, who has been chosen to play one of the leading roles in a forthcoming production at Paris in the play, "The Fairbanks," will start her career here today, having served one year, five months and 14 days of his sentence for seducing socially prominent Charlotte Gibson under promise of marriage.

He was home $15.60 to the good—the sum he earned while in prison here. His original fine of $500 was waived when Homewood pleaded poverty and a ruined business because of the publicity at his trial. He is a riding man.

House in Which Bremer Was Hidden is Located

KINGSTON

CHICAGO, May 18.—Discovery of the house where Edward G. Bremer, wealthy St. Paul banker, was held by kidnapers today found a desperate John Dillinger and the federal search for Bremer's abductors strangely ended once again.

Federal sleuths located the house, just outside Cuba City, Wis., where Bremer was held for three weeks until $200,000 ransom was paid for his release.

Just a stone's throw from the kidnapers' lair, the investigators found an abandoned mine where Dillinger and his outlaw followers hid after his break from a federal trap at Spider Lake, near Mercer, Wis.

Alvin Karpis and Arthur "Doc" Barker, hunted as the actual abductors of Bremer, have been identified as members of the Dillinger party that shot its way out of the Wisconsin north woods trap on April 22.

WENT TO MINE

Investigators were of the opinion that Dillinger and his companions fled to the mine after the north woods shooting and remained there while an army of police and federal agents were scouring the middle west for them.

Near the house stands an old stone mill which fits the description of the place given to authorities by Bremer after his release. Both the mill and the mine showed signs of having been used as headquarters by the kidnapers, federal investigators said.

Twelve miles to the south is Galena, Ill., where a score or more of department of justice agents, armed for a pitched battle, have been hunting for Tommy Carroll, a lieutenant of Dillinger. Residents there have identified photographs of Carroll as the man who lived there openly for a week.

Dillinger's flight following the Spider Lake gun battle has been traced across northern Wisconsin to St. Paul, Minn., and thence to Dubuque, Ia., which is 22 miles southeast of Cuba City, and thence to Chicago.

SEARCH AREA

On the theory that some of the gang might still be lurking in the territory between Galena and Cuba City, a careful search of the area was ordered.

HEAVYWEIGHTS WIN LUTHERAN CONTEST

Judges Decide In Favor of Program; Winners To Be Banqueted June 7.

The heavyweight group of the Trinity Lutheran Brotherhood was the winner of the "Contest of Weights" series of programs and will be guests of honor at the next regular meeting to be held June 7th. The other group receiving recognition was the lightweight group who put on the program at the next meeting while the middleweights and bantamweights will prepare the banquet for this meeting.

The decision of the three judges, F. R. Nickolas, Ross Kirkpatrick, and Ralph Leach, was given after the fourth of the series of programs was given Thursday night by the bantamweight class.

With a splendid program of the heavyweights preceding them at the April meeting, the bantamweights attempted to come through as winners with their program Thursday but to no avail.

Making plans for a program was the idea used by the bantamweight group in presenting their program and this was carried throughout in an interesting way. Opening with announcements that the program would be different, entertaining, snappy and educational the group started to plan their program acting out the ideas offered, which afforded the participants an opportunity to detract from parts of the preceding programs.

In an attempt to gain favor from the judges they depicted an honest insurance agent, automobile dealer and shoe dealer, and had Diogenes appear several times in the audience before the honest men were found, namely the judges.

Many humorous skits were presented throughout the program which ended when the group brought forth the coffin which contained the remains of the three former programs, changing the inscription on the lid to read "We Win."

Mrs. George O. Thurn Answers Requests From Cooking School

Dear Friends in Circleville:

As you know, there isn't room each week to answer all of the questions which poured into me at the Cooking School; but from time to time, those questions which were asked most often, which seemed to bother the greatest number of housekeepers, do find their way into my columns.

For instance, that old, popular request: "Please tell us how to make Chop Suey." That one comes up every day, and from young housekeepers as well as the more experienced. I am giving you a recipe here which according to tourist cook books from China, is Chop Suey. The Chop Suey we know in this country is not known in China; it is a dish for tourists, and for American-Chinese restaurants. But good just the same.

Chop Suey

One and one half pounds pork, chicken, beef or lamb; one large onion; one stalk celery; twelve good sized mushrooms; two cups bamboo shoots (any large grocer has these canned); one and one half teaspoons sugar; two and one half tablespoons soy (ask at any large grocer or if there is a Chinese or Japanese grocer in your town, it can be had there); one tablespoon tarragon vinegar; one cup fine olive or sesame oil.

Cut meat into strips, very thin ones with the scissors; put one half cup of oil in a pan, heat and add the meat. Stir for a minute, then add the vinegar, soy, and sugar and cook five minutes. Chop the other ingredients, and place in another pan which contains half a cup of hot oil. Cook until thoroughly heated, and then add the meat. Cook until it boils hard. Combine mixtures, pile on Chinese dishes, and serve.

Chinese Rice

Chop Suey should be served with rice, and to cook rice the Chinese way is to wash it clean, add water, enough to cover one inch above the rice. Let it come to boiling, then turn the heat low, and let the rice simmer until it is cooked dry. Do not remove the lid during the cooking, until end, to see if it is dry. When the water is absorbed, each grain of rice stands apart from the others.

Chow Mein

While I'm at it I might as well give you the Chow Mein recipe too, for many housekeepers, especially those who serve mid-night suppers, like to give an Oriental party once in a while. This recipe calls for one pound noodles (raw); one fourth pound mushrooms; one fourth pound bamboo shoots; one fourth pound water chestnuts; one eighth cup thinly sliced cooked chicken; one eighth cup thinly sliced cooked ham; two fried eggs; one half cup roasted chestnuts. The shoots and chestnuts are obtainable canned at most large grocery stores.

Drop the raw noodles into a pot of boiling water; add a little salt and boil rapidly for five minutes. Drain and let cold water from the faucet run over this. Dry in a warm oven until thoroughly dry. Drop into deep hot fat as you would doughnuts. Take out quickly and drain on thick layers of paper toweling.

Saute the mushrooms in a little melted butter, cook the bamboo shoots at the same time, and the water chestnuts. Until all are tender. Season with salt, pepper, soy bean sauce and a little ground ginger. Remove these from the pan and re-heat the noodles in the same pan, using the fat in which the vegetables cooked.

On a hot platter make a layer of the noodles, a layer of the vegetable, and a layer of the chicken and ham. Beat the two eggs and fry in the same frying pan in the left over butter. Slice the hard cooked eggs fine, and spread on the chicken and ham. Sprinkle with chopped almonds, and a little parsley.

So many inquiries come in for a good goulash, that I am giving another recipe for it here:

Three tablespoons shortening; two onions; one half cup beef stock or bouillon; three tablespoons chili sauce; two tablespoons tomato catsup; one half teaspoon worcestershire sauce; one fourth teaspoon paprika; one and one half cups cooked beef; salt and pepper to taste.

Melt the shortening in a frying pan, slice the onions very thin into it and fry until brown. Pour into a double boiler, add the stock, chili sauce, catsup and worcestershire sauce and seasoning. Simmer for ten minutes, then add the beef cut into cubes. Simmer for five minutes longer. Serve.

ATLANTA

Dr. and Mrs. J. T. French and daughter, Martha, were guests over the week-end with relatives in Dayton.

Mrs. Vera Dennis and son, Jimmie spent the past week at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Hunter.

Delno and Dudley Steele and Jake Folrod were returning to their home from Atlanta Sunday morning, riding in a Dodge automobile with Delno at the wheel, when making the curve on 277 before crossing U. S. 22 he lost control of the car when it left the road and upset. The Folrod lad was painfully cut on the face and right arm by flying glass, the Steele boys escaped injury. The Dodge was taken to the Henry garage for repairs.

Make Jelly Knots For Today's Tea Party

SOMETHING different for tea! Or for the children's between-meals snacks—there are every day and so capable of variation, depending on the kind of jelly used in them.

The recipe calls for deep fat to fry them in, also these ingredients: four tablespoons of shortening; two cups sifted flour; two teaspoons baking powder; one half teaspoon salt; two thirds cup milk; sugar and cinnamon for sprinkling; jelly for filling.

Sift the flour once, measure, add the baking powder and salt and sift again. Blend in the shortening with two spatulas or a pastry blender; add milk all at once and stir carefully until all the flour is dampened. Then stir vigorously until the mixture forms a soft dough and follows the spoon around the bowl. Turn out immediately on slightly floured board and knead not more than thirty seconds. Roll out to one fourth inch thickness and cut in strips six inches long and one half inch wide. Tie in loose knots. Fry in deep, hot fat (375 by your trying thermometer) turning frequently until golden brown.

Drain on thick layers of paper toweling. Place in each knot a teaspoon of jelly, sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon. Makes about twenty knots.

If different colored jellies are used the plate of finished knots is doubly interesting. Some housekeepers sprinkle the jelly with finely grated coconut.

The recipe for this delicious fried pastry is given elsewhere on the page. Effective with any flavor jelly.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Speakman and son Billy, of Ashville, were Sunday guests with Mr. and Mrs. George Speakman.

Miss Louise and Geneva Hoskins of Columbus spent the week-end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Hoskins.

Miss Annamie Russ returned to her home at Athens Sunday, after spending the school year with William Bennett and family.

A large crowd attended the commencement exercises in the school auditorium Friday night. Sheepskins presented by O. C. Creighton were given to George Clements, Helen Skinner, Annamie Russ, Bertus Carleton Bennett, George Speakman, William Hoskins, Doris Morris, Leigale Canterbury, and Delno Steele. The president of the Ohio Northern university delivered the class address.

Mrs. Almada Bennett entertained Sunday with a Mother's Day dinner honoring her mother, Mrs. Alice Moore. Those enjoying the day were Mrs. Mattie Chenault, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Carpenter, of Greenfield; Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Hunter, of Cleveland; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Baker, of Springfield; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Arnot and son Bob, of Dayton; Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Moore sons, Junior and Joe, Curtis and Earl Moore, Miss Helen Dick, of Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. Everett Russ and family, of Athens; Mr. and Mrs. William Hoskins, Doris Carleton and the honor guest, Mrs. Moore.

Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Evans were Columbus visitors Monday.

Mrs. C. W. Mouser is critically ill at her home near here.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Cleary entertained over the week-end Mr. and Opal, and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hartman, of Columbus.

Killing of half of Pennsylvania's beaver population during the last open season was their punishment for consistent violation of the hours-of-labor provisions of NRA.

SHE ATE ALL-BRAN TWELVE YEARS WITH FINE RESULTS

Delicious Cereal Relieves Constipation

Read this very enthusiastic letter: "Something like eleven or twelve years ago, I began eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. When I started, it was called simply Kellogg's Bran, and I believe it was one of the first products of the kind on the market.

"My friends often laugh at my fondness for ALL-BRAN. It gives such a clean taste in the mouth, and I do not feel satisfied until I have had my ALL-BRAN.

"If the Kellogg Company should ever stop manufacturing ALL-BRAN, here is one who would be greatly disappointed."—Miss Amy Person, University Park, Iowa.

Science says that ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further aid regularity. Also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. How much safer than taking patent medicines—often harmful. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily for most types of constipation. For serious cases, try it three times daily. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Sold in the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

SYNOPSIS

Stanley Paige, beautiful, young society girl, is left penniless when her lawyer speculates with her money and loses. Stanley, however, cares little for the money, feeling that she has everything in the love of fascinating Drew Armitage. But when Drew breaks their engagement, saying it would be impossible to marry on his income, she is heartbroken. Rather than accept aid from her wealthy friends, Stanley rents a cheap furnished room and disappears from her exclusive circle to try and make her own way. Her friends agree that a better way would have been to marry a handsome Perry Deverest, but Stanley cannot forget Drew. One day, she meets John Harmon, a Northrup, struggling young author. A strong friendship ensues and they become very necessary to one another. John Harmon is in love with Stanley but refrains from telling her because of Drew. At the beach, he catches her in his arms as she is about to fall. Her nearness intoxicates him. He tells himself he must never let it happen again but, try as he might, he cannot forget the ecstasy of that moment.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FIVE

He passed Stanley and reached the beach first. She came out of the ocean, shaking the water from her eyes, pulling off her tight scarlet cap.

"Let's build us a fire, John Harmon. I'm simply freezing cold!" They found driftwood and piled it up on the sand. The slow gray smoke hung heavily in the air, burst suddenly into blue flames, sprang into a leaping red blaze.

Stanley investigated the lunch basket and found some sandwiches. They ate them hungrily, sweaters tied about their shoulders, bodies relaxed and tingling in the warmth of the fire.

"I mustn't look at her," John Harmon thought desperately. "We must keep on talking," he thought. And there was nothing to say. "I've known this for a long time, but I've never admitted it. I never intended to—I don't intend to now." And he kept his eyes fixed on the ocean.

"It's been a day to remember," Stanley said softly, poking the fire with a sunbaked twig. "It's been lovely and gentle and sort of wistful. Haven't you felt like that about it, John Harmon?"

He nodded, still refusing her his eyes. "October is like that—beautiful and breathtaking and sort of poignant," he hesitated and bit over the last word. He was still a little shy about words like that. It was still easier to write them than to speak them.

"It's like an enchanting interlude," he went on slowly, "giving lavishly, promising nothing. That's what makes it so unbearably lovely, Stanley, the sense of elusiveness, one feels about a day like this, the sense of flight, sustained for a moment, then gone forever." His voice stopped abruptly on a rough, tight note. It was not the day he was describing, but this other thing—this tremulous, fragile relationship between himself and this slim girl beside him. . . . an enchanting interlude promising nothing, the sense of flight—sustained for a moment, then gone forever.

Stanley was not looking at him. Her eyes were on the fire. She answered him softly, slowly. "That's all life is—don't you think?—beautiful moments held for a space, then gone forever." A searing little pain flicked John Harmon's heart. He knew that note in Stanley's voice. He'd heard it often enough, heaven knew! He knew what he would find in her eyes, if he had the courage to look, knew the twisted, gallant little smile that would be lying on her lips. She hadn't forgotten. She might never forget. He closed his eyes swiftly, felt again the soft, warm pressure of her body against his, saw again the dripping sweetness of her mouth, the drunken softness of her eyes. . . . Knew that it must never happen again, that he must forget that it had ever happened at all.

"I've never really forgiven you, you know, for running away," said Marcia.

"I'm cold," Stanley sprang up suddenly. The fire had burned itself into a mound of crumbling coals, its deep pink and molten gold; its edges already curling softly into a frail, white ash.

"Time to be going home, John Harmon," she told him, giving him her hands, pulling him to his feet, "summer's over."

For a shattering, nerve-tightened second, he felt that surely his arms must go around her, that his mouth must find hers and cling there, that nothing mattered except his need of her—then, he knew it wasn't so, that always, now and forever, her need of him was the important thing, the only thing that would ever matter.

He dropped her hands, turned and walked with her up the beach. On the ride back into town John Harmon was very gay. He found a lot to talk about. He talked lightly and of inconsequential things, he talked against time and a moment he didn't want to remember and he quivered in Stanley's voice that he couldn't forget. And Stanley listened, and laughed now and then, and said very little. She had found something rather precious in the country that day, she didn't want to lose it—and words dispel so many things.

The third week in October Marcia Wingate came back to town, Nigel Stern bought a new and rare portfolio of etchings—and Stanley lost her job.

Marcia slid back into her own particular groove in town with the sleek agility of a cat returning to its own back yard. Connections temporarily lost during the summer were picked up again, certain changes were noted and accepted; a divorce here, a marriage there, a new name added to her list, an old one dropped, an intrigue smiled upon, a scandal covered up. But all in all it was much the same sort of thing, one season after another—much light conversation, lovely clothes, carefully concealed emotions and cleverly expressed opinions.

It was Marcia's world. She moved in it, gracefully and with a great deal of pleasant assurance. She was rarely bored. Marcia, it will be remembered, was not clever. She was not troubled with any confusing ideas about life. She was troubled, in fact, by very few ideas of any kind, any she had were always well ordered and easily pigeon-holed.

She had not thought of Stanley in weeks, when one day she walked into her on Madison Avenue. She was crossing the pavement to her car when there, miraculously, was Stanley.

There was nothing miraculous about it at all, of course. Stanley passed her every night on her way home.

They shook hands. Marcia had considered whether to kiss her or not and the moment had passed.

"I've never really forgiven you, you know, for running away," "I've never forgotten how good both you and Ned were."

"You're looking well, Stanley, a bit thin perhaps."

"You're awfully fit yourself, Marcia. Have a nice summer?"

"Oh, the usual thing—rather more golf than usual. It's sort of nice to be back in town. You'll find me something of a winter wonder, won't you, Stanley?"

"That would be nice—we could have tea sometime."

"You must come to dinner—just Ned and you and I and, perhaps, Perry."

Stanley's color deepened suddenly. "That sounds delightful, Marcia."

"You'll come, then? I'll telephone you. Well, it's been splendid seeing you. Ned will be glad to know you're looking so well. Good-bye."

"Good-bye, Marcia."

Stanley watched the long beige car nose its way arrogantly through the traffic—of course, Marcia wouldn't call her up—she would mean to, perhaps, but she would forget about it and eventually, when she thought about it, she would remember she didn't have her address.

Stanley turned and hurried on, a little smile on her lips, her eyes a bit grim. She had belonged and now she didn't. Marcia wasn't a snob but she had an instinct about things like that. Of course, if Stanley had chosen to marry Perry Deverest instead of fantastically running off to live in an impossible way with impossible people—the smile tightened on Stanley's lips.

PATTERN 9999

Give a man his coffee in a frock like this and he will vow it is good—even if it isn't! It is that kind of a frock! The ruffle about the shoulders is particularly fetching and it has nice new looking little pockets and a pretty treatment of the waistline. It takes a plaid beautifully, as you see, but a plaid is by no means necessary to its happiness—any nice print will do, or if you look better in a plain fabric, have it in that. The great point is to have it—and not miss so charming a design.

Pattern 9999 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44. Size 16 requires 3 1/2 yards 36 inch fabric.

AT THE CLIFTONA

That culture and civilization are only thin veneers which are easily stripped from men when confronted with "nature in the raw" is demonstrated in Cecil B. De Mille's latest Paramount picture, "Four Frightened People," which comes on Saturday to the Cliftona Theatre.

The best-selling novel of the same name by E. Arnot-Robertson was used by Hollywood's ace director as the basis for his film which he made entirely in the jungles on the Island of Hawaii.

Its unusual plot deals with the adventures of four Americans, two women and two men, who are forced to flee from a Dutch steamer when bubonic plague breaks out aboard. They land secretly in a wild spot on the coast of the Malay Peninsula and hire a half-caste guide to take them to the nearest seaport.

Instead of a three-day journey through the jungle it takes several months during which they become lost. Confronted with primitive life, they revert to living as their ancient ancestors lived. The prim, homely school-teacher, of whom the men would take no notice, becomes a radiant jungle creature over whom they ultimately fight.

This central character of the school-teacher is played by Claudette Colbert. The other three members of the quartet are Herbert Marshall, Mary Boland and William Gargan.

AT THE GRAND

El Brendel, Fox comedian, has no hobby. His only avocation is his vocation. When he isn't working he sits at home and worries. He worked in "My Lips Betray" for five days and called the studio every day to find out if he was "still in the cast."

His wife, whom he first met when she was only 11 in a school-days act, classifies and catalogues his "jokes" which he collects by the trunkful. Brendel says present day comedians don't have to work for jokes and gags but just sit around a radio and steal enough stuff for an act. Asserts you couldn't get by the door man in the old days if you didn't have a brand new original joke or gag to pull on him.

Help Corn-Hog Control

FORT COLLINS, Colo., County agents throughout the state estimated at 13,000 farmers in 46 Colorado counties will sign contracts in connection with the federal government's corn-hog production control program. Cash benefit payments to the contracting farmers will total at least $2,000,000, according to estimates of T. G. Stewart, extension agronomist at the state Agricultural college here.

From 79 to 85 per cent of the population of China are farmers, yet not enough food is produced to support the population of the country.

Dr. Copeland

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health,
New York City

I RECENTLY visited a large city hospital. On my tour of inspection I was taken to the children's ward and was amazed to see the number of children being treated for undernourishment. It is indeed a pathetic sight to see such youngsters, emaciated and undeveloped. At the very time of life they should be sturdy and happy, they are weak and miserable.

No doubt you will be surprised to learn that undernourishment in children is not always due to lack of funds to purchase necessary food. In most instances, probably, it can be traced to a lack of proper food, rather than a lack in the amount of food. Many children of rich parents are victims of this disorder.

Children who are permitted to choose their food according to taste and whim, rather than their need, soon suffer from the effects of undernourishment. The child who is fed on a diet deficient in certain vitamins, minerals, proteins, carbohydrates and fats, is unable to make the normal strides in growth and development.

Lack of Appetite

Of course there are cases where the child suffers from want of certain foods because of lack of appetite. He may be the victim of dislikes or faulty habits acquired in very early life. When important foods, such as milk, cream, butter, eggs, vegetables and fruits are omitted from the diet, undernourishment results. Variety in food is likely to furnish a diet rich in the elements necessary for strong teeth, bones, muscles and tissues. Such feeding is essential to the infant and young child.

Children who are undernourished fall below the weight they should have. They fail to make the necessary gains in weight, height and mental development. As a rule, they are irritable and tire easily. They have poor posture, dry skin and coarse and brittle hair. They are susceptible to the "catching" diseases, appearing to contract every ailment known to child life.

Dislike of Foods

If your child is not gaining in weight and you are concerned about his progress, I advise you to check carefully on the daily diet. Bear in mind, that every child should have a daily quart of milk. In addition, include in the diet a liberal supply of fresh fruits and vegetables.

Encourage the child to eat. But never force him to eat. If appetite is poor, perhaps it is due to a lack of variety in the dishes. It may be advisable to give cod liver oil. A child often develops a dislike for certain important foods because the parent dislikes this food and says so. If you dislike spinach, do not voice your opinion in front of the child. Children are easily influenced and imitate their elders.

I cannot overstate the value, the real importance of periodic visits to the doctor. He will weigh and measure the child, advise as to diet and check all physical defects. Guard against disease; that is much better than being forced to cure disease.

Answers to Health Queries

I. P. Q.—I am troubled with dizzy spells and biliousness? What can I do to overcome the trouble. Would an enlarged spleen be apt to account for the discomfort?

A.—Yes, the spleen would be a very likely source of the trouble. Watch your diet and elimination. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

NEW PARTIES ENTER FIELD

COLUMBUS, May 18.—Harboring no illusion that their candidates may win in November, two minor political parties—Prohibition and Commonwealth—today, nevertheless, launched campaigns to bring out what they hope will be a big protest vote against the old line parties.

Methodist minister Aaron S. Watkins, Cairo, many times a candidate but never elected, and Charles A. Baine, Ashtaband, for U. S. senator and governor, respectively, headed the Prohibition ticket.

At the top of the Commonwealth party slate stood Fred G. Bale, Westerville, for senator, and John C. Williams, Columbus, president of the Ohio Methodist Protestant Conference, for governor.

Two years ago Dr. Watkins, running for governor, polled 19,575 votes for the prohibition party while Ohio voted 1,356,518 for Gov. George White (D) and 1,151,933 for David S. Ingalls (R). There was no Commonwealth ticket in 1932.

At that the grey-haired, erect prohibition party candidate got more votes than two other minor party candidates for governor in 1932. William Woodhouse, Socialist-Labor, polled only 1,784, and John Marshall, Communist, 6,342.

It was not through coincidence that the two minor parties held state conventions simultaneously. Prohibition party leaders attended to that in the hope that an amalgamation of the two might result, but there was no such consequence.

According to Dr. Watkins, the new Commonwealth group sprang from a schism that developed in the Prohibition party, with F. M. McCartney, Columbus, former Prohibition party state chairman, leaving it to help organize the new group.

The Commonwealth branch asserted the name "Prohibition" was offensive to many days, but the leaders of the older party refused to accept a new designation contending that no other word so adequately describes their purpose.

Both these parties brand Republicans and Democrats alike as "traitors to the cause of prohibition" and abolition of the liquor traffic is their chief platform plank, although they do not overlook taxation and the financial crisis of the schools.

No bosom friend of the Anti-Saloon League, some Prohibition party mainstays professed to be shocked when the convention, having no other nominee, unanimously endorsed S. P. McNaught, Ohio Anti-Saloon League Superintendent for attorney general.

This was done soon after George D. Harger, Pittsburgh, the Pennsylvania party chairman, had reminded the delegates that "some have charged that the reason the Anti-Saloon league was organized was to keep dries from dropping out of the Republican and Democratic parties and coming over to the Prohibition party."

Harger laid responsibility for the repeal of prohibition directly on the doorstep of "stay-at-home" dries. He referred to them as "sleeping disciples of our Lord."

That Gas Serves Four Uses In This Kitchen

Here gas is used for cooking, water heating, refrigeration and to heat the kitchen. Yet, most housewives, in naming its uses, probably would mention not more than two. It takes many months of ageing in the wood—2½ to 3 years to be exact—to bring out the flavor and mildness of the tobaccos—just as it takes many months of ageing to bring out the flavor of rare wines. It means something that Chesterfield tobaccos are aged and mellowed like fine wines—it helps to give Chesterfield its milder and better taste.

MEATS SCORE 33 IN GAME

Field day was presented at the ball field, Thursday, when the McClarren Chows, 33-5, in a seven inning fray. It was so dark at the end of seven innings that play was impossible.

No one is certain just what the score was. The 33-5 result was the nearest that could be determined. Everyone had a good time although the score was so lopsided. The losing players took their defeat in good shape, never flinching but going onto the field in the morning knowing that inevitable base hits would be dropping around them and whizzing by their ears.

No effort was made to keep the number of base hits nor the number of errors committed.

About This And That

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

Next week's recreation ball schedule finds some good games promised.

Monday: Container Corporation vs. Circleville Oils.

Tuesday: Mecca restaurant vs. Eschelman Feeds.

Wednesday: Given Oils vs. Purina Chows.

Thursday: McClarren Meats vs. Circle City.

The Monday night game should be a hum-dinger with the straw-hat outfit undefeated and the Circleville Oils trying to recover from the whipping handed them by the Mecca restaurant during the past week. * * * Pud Oliver and Carl Purcell will tangle on the mound * * *

Tuesday will find Eddie Callahan and his Feed-men doing their damndest to oust the Meccas with Bill Hegele on the hill from their top perch. The Given Oils are favorites over the Purinas, but not too sure. Wednesday, while the McClarrens might be given an edge over the dairy-men Thursday evening.

Columbus has farmed another mighty good ball player, Eddie Daker, who has been sent to Elmira. He joins Terry Moore and Tom Angley, two other good performers. * * * It's quite a set-down for Daker who was in the big show with the Phillie Nationals last year.

One of the secrets of the early season success of the Mecca restaurant team is that no player is certain what position he will play, or whether or not he will be in the starting lineup when the game starts. * * * Cum Robinson, directing the destinies of the club, has all the players guessing and has even threatened two of them, Pinkie Wilson and Dutch Wefler, with trips to Elmira if they don't start fielding according to Hoyle in a short time.

OHIOANS THIRD IN EARLY TENNIS TEST

CHICAGO, May 18.—University of Chicago today was leading in the annual Western conference tennis tournament after the first day of play with a total of eight points. Michigan was close behind with 7 1-2. Ohio State had garnered 4 1-2 points toward the league title; Minnesota and Illinois, 4 each; Purdue, 3, and Iowa, Wisconsin and Northwestern, 2 each.

Leonard Buskirk was in good form for his team having the Chow hitters at his mercy throughout. It is believed this score is the highest ever scored in the local league.

Tonight's game finds the Circleville Oils meeting the State Highway department division No. 6 team. The contest is booked at 6:15.

The highway department team is fast and boasts a crew of heavy hitters including a number of former Ohio State stars. Blackie Conrad or Paul Heineman are expected to climb on the hill for the invaders while Carl Purcell will toss them for the local outfit.

A large crowd is expected to witness this contest.

Bowling News

Bach-Herdman took three out of four games from Rush-Watts Thursday evening in the doubles league and Vining-Shea and Betts-Gib split their four games.

Two splendid totals were howled in the two contests. Bob Herdman counting 148-253-225-178 for a neat 594 total, while Vining and Shea combined 227 and 220 in their final game to tally 447 a high single game count. Bach and Herdman also broke 400 in their second game hitting 424, and Rush and Watts counted 403 in their third encounter.

Buckeye Conference Stars

This galaxy of Buckeye conference track stars will be seen in the ninth annual conference track and field meet to be held at Ohio Wesleyan university, Delaware, on Friday and Saturday, May 25 and 26.

Jim Gilmore, Ohio university's ace half-mile and Buckeye champion in that event, and Jim Cole, Miami sophomore star, will tangle in the half-mile run, which likely will be the feature of the meet. Gilmore was beaten by Cole earlier in the season in a dual meet. Gilmore lives in Hamilton and Cole in Richmond, Ind.

Oscar Willenzik, Cincinnati's conference champion in the 440 yards race, will be the class of the field in that event again this year and likely will repeat. He lives in Pensacola, Fla.

The other two men in the above layout are Earl Lykins, Marshall's javelin ace, who won in the Buckeye meet a year ago, and Howard White, Ohio Wesleyan's "one-man track team," winner last year of both hurdles and the broad jump. Lykins lives in Huntington, W. Va., and White in Circleville.

FISH STOCKING PLAN IN OHIO GOES FORWARD

Many Inland Lakes, Streams Being Filled With Game-Fish By State.

COLUMBUS, May 18.—Ohio's annual spring program of stocking its inland lakes and streams with game-fish is going ahead under "full stream."

As rapidly as adult breeders can be obtained from Lake Erie and Rockwell, they are being distributed throughout the state. The shipments include large and small mouth black bass, rock bass, catfish, bluegills and crappies. An effort also is to be made to secure a large number of wall-eyed pike and some muskies for suitable waters.

At the present time, the shipments consist mostly of white and black crappies. The crappie is a popular fish in all parts of Ohio. It is easily taken, biting readily on small minnows. The best bet when fishing for crappies is to use a light cane pole and bobber and to drop the line near stumps or logs or brush under the water.

The season on crappies is open throughout the year; the legal length is six inches and the bag limit 25 per day, combined species. They are called Lake, Whites at Buckeye Lake, New Lights or Lamplighters in southern Ohio and in the Portage Lakes they are known as shad. The proper name is crappie, although they generally are known as crappies.

Ohio's inland lakes, include Lake St. Mary's Indian Lake, Lake Lorain, Portage Lakes and Buckeye Lake are being restocked with crappies.

In Ohio, 64 per cent of the farms having cows have more than five of them.

BIRDS GRANTED ONLY TWO HITS

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 18.—The Columbus Red Birds today had suffered their second straight defeat at the hands of the Kansas City American Association baseball team as the fast-traveling Blues climbed into second place in the league race. The Blues trounced the Birds here yesterday, 4 to 0. The two-hit pitching of "Hobo" Carson featured the game.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 18.—Hammering three Toledo pitchers hard, the Milwaukee Brewers today had evened the series with the Ohioans by defeating the Mud Hens here yesterday, 9 to 4. Polli hurried for the Brewers and only gave up seven hits.

lines, one running from the Pickaway and Big Walnut generating stations of The Columbus Railway, Power & Light Company, south of Columbus, and the other running from the generating station of The Southern Ohio Electric Company, south of Nelsonville. The additional substation planned for Chillicothe is designed solely to give local consumers two sources of distribution supply after transmission lines have brought it into the city.

Another improvement planned by The Southern Ohio Electric Company is an increase in the voltage of its lines running out of Chillicothe to Waverly, Piketon, Richmond Dale and intervening points. They will be raised from 6,900 to 13,200, increasing the capacity of these lines to take care of continually growing load in those sections and greatly improving service to customers.

FEAR BREWERIES TO HURT STREAMS

COLUMBUS, May 18.—Fears that with the reopening of breweries and distilleries in the state, there will be increased contamination of Ohio's streams from the wastes flowing from these plants, are dispelled by officials of the state department of health with the assertion that a "save-all" system of wastes treatment will eliminate the difficulty.

They point to the plant at Lynchburg, O., which was used in 1906 to take care of wastes emanating from the distillery there. It was not only a satisfactory method but was decidedly profitable to the plant, it is said.

It is expected that the same method will be used again at Lynchburg. According to research conducted by the health department, the wastes emanating from the plant were removed from the streams by a screening process. Nearly 10 percent of the waste could be converted into a dry cattle feed at a high rate of profit.

Another 50 percent of the material taken from the stream was utilized as a liquid food for cattle it was pointed out.

More than $4,000 profit was realized yearly from the waste product taken from the stream.

A practical trial of this evaporation method use at Lynchburg indicates that it will not only prove satisfactory, but will also yield a source of profit when used by other plants.

COLUMBUS, May 18.—Approximately 15,000 men are expected to be given employment on NRA and NRS highway projects in Ohio during May, an increase of nearly 5,000 over last month.

crammed into the desert grave for the little victim's meals. The grocer said the purchaser of the food was a stranger in Tucson.

Officers also were reported to have found in the Hell hole in which June was imprisoned a half-torn letter containing a Chicago postmark, recalling that it was from Chicago on May 10 a letter was mailed to Gov. B. B. Moeur of Arizona enclosing a map and giving instructions that led to the discovery of June's prison.

ONE MAN JAILED

One suspect has remained in custody here since Wednesday.

The man refused to admit any connection with the kidnaping although once last night it was learned he said he would "talk" if proper negotiations could be made. His meaning was not clarified.

A second held in technical custody since yesterday, but not under arrest, still was under observation.

Although all law enforcement agencies were tightly drawing a dragnet about a third suspect, believed possibly in Chicago, officers here refused to comment.

Undersheriff Colby S. "Jake" Farrar still was attempting to track the man's footprints and automobile tire impressions at the scene of the "torture racket."

Fingerprints found on the articles in June's coffin were airmailed to the bureau of investigation in Washington in the hope that in the files may be found an identification.

June graciously posed for newspaper photographers and told the story of her second visit to the "torture coffin" site from which she was rescued.

She held tightly to the hand of her mother, Mrs. Fernando Robles, when she inspected the Hell hole. "That's where the man shoved me and made me stay," the little girl said, as she pointed to the desert grave.

Highway Director O. W. Merrell reported to Governor George White today.

During April 10,470 men were employed on highway projects and were paid a total of $329,516.77, Merrell's report showed.

WHY do you suppose Chevrolet keeps repeating in all of its advertising, "Drive it only 5 miles"? Here's the reason: Chevrolet engineers have tried out all the various makes of cars in today's low-price field. And they have proved to their complete satisfaction, the same things that hundreds of thousands of Chevrolet owners are proving in their daily driving: How much more smoothly a car travels with genuine, fully-enclosed Knee-Action. How much more comfortably it handles, with

SHINING LIGHT BIBLE CLASS ELECTS OFFICERS

The May meeting of the Shining Light Bible class was held Thursday evening in the United Brethren Community house, with forty members and guests present.

It opened with a song service and devotionals by Miss Viola Woolever. A short business session followed during which the annual election of officers was held under the direction of Mrs. Jennie Steele, class teacher.

Mrs. Roy Groce was named president; Mrs. Cora Coffland, vice president; Ralph Long, recording secretary; Mrs. Ed Milbrooks, treasurer; Mrs. Charles Betz, flower treasurer; Mrs. Agnes Accord, pianist; and Mrs. Ray Greene, chorister.

A program in charge of Mrs. T. C. Harper was presented by sons, daughters and granddaughters of several class members.

A group of selections by a vocal trio was the first number. The trio, Misses Lucile Kirkwood, Pauline Accord and Margaret Long, sang "Harvest Moon" and "Somebody Loves You." Miss Virginia Harper was accompanist.

John Heggie, bass, accompanied by Mrs. Aubrey Lemley, sang "Any Old Port" and an encore number, "Wagon Wheels."

This was followed by a recitation by little Freda Frances Rother, granddaughter of Mrs. Charles Skinner, and a vocal solo by little Betty Jane Bostwick.

The program concluded with two more numbers by the trio, "Throw Another Log on the Fire" and "This Little Pig Went to Market."

A social hour ensued during which dainty refreshments were served by the outgoing officers, Miss Cora Hampshire, Mrs. Charles McFadden, Mrs. Ernest May and Mrs. Ralph Long assisted by Miss Daisy Woolever, Mrs. Ida Coakley and Mrs. Effie Albright.

KINGSTON MEMBER ENTERTAINS CLUB

Mrs. Carson Dresbach, of Kingston, was hostess at a charming one o'clock luncheon Thursday at her home. Guests were members of her sewing club.

Covers were laid for Mrs. J. Wallace Crist, Mrs. Henry Mader, Mrs. Charles Smith, Mrs. Charles Myers, Mrs. Harry Dresbach, Mrs. Ralph Boggs and Miss May Heffner, this city, and Mrs. Lahon Young and Mrs. Alice Riegel, Kingston.

Enjoying the affair were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Call of Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Butts of Kingston; Miss Eloise Hilyard and Leland Dunkel, this city; Mr. and Mrs. George Shook, Mr. and Mrs. Oris Rader, Mr. and Mrs. James Butts, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Max Rader, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Rhoades, Miss Della Hoffman, Ross Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Austin Rader and Mr. and Mrs. Reichelderfer.

TEACHERS ENJOY OUTING THURSDAY

Teachers of the local schools including high and grade schools, enjoyed an outing, Thursday evening after school hours.

About forty-five motored to Ash Cave for a picnic supper. This was the second social gathering of the new teachers' association organized this year.

PYTHIAN SISTERS HAVE CELEBRATION THURSDAY

Majors temple Pythian Sisters celebrated its thirteenth anniversary Thursday evening in the lodge rooms with a covered-dish supper following its regular business session.

The occasion also celebrated the eighty-sixth birthday anniversary of John Majors, one of the temple's charter members, who was presented with a birthday cake by Mrs. Charles Stoffer.

A very pleasant social evening was enjoyed by forty members and guests.

J. W. Johnson, N. Court-st, left Friday morning for a ten days' visit with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Joy of Detroit.

Rev. and Mrs. Herman A. Sayre, N. Pickaway-st, will have as their guests over the week-end, Mrs. W. Whitlatch and daughter, Miss Pauline Whitlatch, of near Athens. They were members of Rev. Sayre's choir while he was pastor of the First M. E. church of Nelsonville, and will sing in the local church Sunday morning at 10:30.

Misses Anne Hathaway and Jane Brown, of Chillicothe, will be weekend guests of Miss Ann Bennett, S. Court-st, and will attend the formal opening Saturday night of the Pickaway Country club's dance hall.

MANY FARMERS TO ATTEND DISTRICT MEETING MAY 25

An all-day district farm bureau meeting will be held at Lancaster on May 25, according to local officials, who announce that a large delegation of farm families from this county, a unit in the district, will attend. The meeting has been scheduled in co-operation with officials of the Ohio Farm Bureau, at Columbus, to discuss a new and enlarged program of organization and co-operative activities, recently developed by the farm group.

"Our Strongest Defense is Attack" will be the topic for discussion by two representatives of the state organization from Columbus. District officials and local farm leaders will also appear on the program. Entertaining numbers will be interspersed throughout the day's program, which will start at 10 o'clock in the morning. The county having the largest attendance in the district will receive a banner, to be awarded by the state farm bureau. There are four counties in this district. The award will be made on a mileage basis.

The 1934 farm bureau program is designed to restore purchasing power and to develop a more satisfactory life on Ohio farms, according to Perry L. Green, president of the Ohio Farm Bureau. Similar meetings are being held in all districts of the state this month.

INCREASE IN MEMBERS
Farmers are displaying a much greater interest this year in organization activities and the co-operative movement, according to W. G. Winemiller, of the organization division of the Ohio Farm Bureau.

"We have had a 50 per cent increase in membership since the first of the year, and from all indications, by the first of June we will have more paid memberships for 1934 than we had for the entire year of 1933," says Mr. Winemiller.

Farmers appear very eager to become a part of the co-operative program, he states, and volunteer solicitors are finding it an easy matter to add new advocates to farm bureau membership lists in their respective county units.

Among the counties in the state with the largest numbers of members to date are: Logan, 525; Butler, 520; Auglaize, 450; Richland, 417; Hardin, 344; and Hamilton, 337.

N. L. Steve and Carl Lawler, of Auglaize-co, were recently signally honored by L. F. Warbington, district organization manager, for securing 70 new membership applications, bringing the total of their township up to 135.

FARM BROADCASTS
Neighbors and friends are gathering around their radios in farm homes each weekday noon to hear messages of vital interest given by Ed. Bath on farm bureau developments and progress of co-operative activities in Ohio, over station WLW, from 12 to 12:15 p. m., according to James R. Moore, publicity director of the Ohio Farm Bureau at Columbus.

STORE CLOSED
Rothman's store will be closed from Saturday until Tuesday morning in observance of Jewish holidays.

PERSON-TWO TEACHERS

George McDowell, at a farewell luncheon at the school Thursday noon.

A pink and white color scheme was carried out in the attractive appointments for the three course luncheon.

The delightful affair was a pleasant surprise to the honor student, who has been at the head of the Jackson schools for the past eleven years and who on Aug. 1 will become superintendent of the county schools.

Because of the high esteem with which he is held by his teachers and in appreciation of his loyal help, he was presented with a beautiful brief-case by Miss Nelle Ruffe in behalf of her co-workers.

Enjoying the affair were the teachers, Miss Ethel Noegle, Miss Edith Trump, Miss Mabel Kern, Miss Helen Baker, Miss Nelle Ruffe, J. L. Chilcote, Miss Janet Hockman, G. J. Lampl, G. D. Bradley, Miss Mary Rodheffer and the honor guest, Mr. McDowell; three guests, Mrs. McDowell, and daughter, Violet, and Mrs. Bradley, and the custodians of the school, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Black.

CLUB ENTERTAINED AT DINNER PARTY

Mrs. William Foresman, S. Scioto-st, entertained with a charming dinner party Thursday evening at her home. Guests were members of her Thursday night bridge club.

HULING-WELDON RITES WILL BE JUNE 16

Saturday, June 16, has been chosen by Miss Hester Huling, of Columbus, for her marriage to Mr. Lemuel Boggs Weldon, W. Union-st, this city. The nuptials will be read at 6:30 o'clock in the evening at the home of Miss Huling's uncle and aunt, Dr. and Mrs. A. W. Newell, 878 Fairway-blvd, Columbus.

Announcement of the engagement was made early last winter by the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Frank Cyrus Huling and the late Mr. Huling.

Many friends are planning parties in honor of Miss Huling and her fiancé before the wedding. Among them is Miss Jean Sanford, Columbus, who will entertain with a picnic, June 12, in the afternoon at the Sanford farm near West Jefferson.

Others who will entertain in the near future are Mrs. E. W. Miller, Mrs. Baker, O'Neill, Miss Ruth Pryor, Miss Betty Harrington, of Columbus, and Mrs. Coit Blacker of Reynoldsburg.

MRS. MCGINNIS HONORED AT PARTY ON BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Paul McGinnis was honored on her birthday anniversary Wednesday, when a group of friends gathered at her home in Kingston for a delightful evening party. The affair was a pleasant surprise for the honor guest.

Bridge was the diversion of the enjoyable hours and at the close of the game dainty refreshments were served. High score prize was awarded Mrs. G. W. McGinnis and Miss Bess Fry.

The group was comprised of Mrs. Allen Thornton, Mrs. G. D. Phillips, Mrs. Harold Grant, Mrs. Charles Fullen, Mrs. Mary Beck, Mrs. James Davidson, Mrs. Lawrence Geller, Mrs. John Bell, Mrs. Mae Bell, Misses Bess Fry, Florence Dunyon, Winifred Parrett and Marvina Holderman, this city; Mrs. G. W. McGinnis and Mrs. Margaret Wright, Kingston.

MRS. MADER HOSTESS AT BRIDGE THURSDAY

Mrs. Henry Mader delightfully entertained the members of her bridge club Thursday evening at her home on Pinckney-st.

Two tables of cards were in play with favor for high score going to Mrs. Robert Brehmer.

In two weeks Mrs. William Mack, S. Washington-st, will entertain the club.

Silk Dresses

PRINTS, POLKADOTS AND PLAIN WASHABLE CREPES

Tomorrow will be an exciting day on Crist's second floor. We have just received and are showing for the first time lovely new Summer Frocks. There are Silks, Prints and Washables—Dresses you'll live in all summer long—and they're all new and different. Styles for all occasions.

Sizes 14 to 20
38 to 50
Also Half Sizes

Washable Crepe SPORT SUITS & SPORT DRESSES
Tailored Styles and Dressy Styles

$5.95 - $7.50 - $9.90

COTTON DRESSES
$1.00 to $5.95

White Linen SWAGGER SUITS
$3.95 Navy and brown linen suits, short coats also priced at $3.95

Plenty of Monotone Prints in Large Sizes

SPECIAL GROUP MARIE DRESSLER DRESSES
IN SIZES FOR TALL OR SHORT WOMEN—SIZES TO FIT THE 38½ TO 52½—37¼ TO 51¼.

These half-sizes and quarter-size dresses have the smartness of 16's and 18's because of their perfect fit. They provide ample fullness in the armholes, sleeves and bust... they are narrower through the shoulders preventing the dress from dropping over the arm joint... they are fuller in the hips, being carefully cut to prevent "hiking up" in the front.

$1.95 and $2.95
